Era of Change

'64 . . .

. . . was magic from March, '63, to March, '64. Magic, because PHS students did more in '64 despite diminishing enrollment due to school expansion. '64 was magic to underclassmen as well as to Seniors looking forward to their part in celebration of 75th PHS graduation.

The theme . . . WE DO MORE IN '64 THROUGH CURRICULAR AND EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES . . . seemed to fit our year of change and growth. Losing our Freshmen and some faculty members to the two new junior high schools, and observing the diamond anniversary of graduating classes at PHS brought us into our era of transition at Paris High School.

This fifty-first volume of The Owl will serve as a book of memories and a record of the year for you to pore over and reflect on how much more you did in '64.

day party . . .

From registration to registration, one found Mrs. A. V. Wacasey sincerely doing for others. Making schedules, typing, looking up that lost schedule, running stencils, and assisting with school business kept her on the job.

To the office staff she was a guiding light; to students, that special ray of sunshine; to faculty, confidant and liaison. The sparkle of her smile, an inspiration to all, reflected her personality. When it was time to laugh, she was ready to laugh with you; when things were tense, she knew just the words to say. As school secretary, she led in all things that were to be done. But especially for her helping hand and understanding of yearbook staff problems, we dedicate to Mrs. A. V. Wacasey our 1964 Owl.

Debut of OWL and Senior Assembly

STRAINS OF "Auld Lang Syne" echo in background as '63 Seniors with tear-stained eyes give up auditorium seats and honors to forward-looking Juniors in final assembly of 1962-63.

Close 1963 School Year

Debut of 1963 OWL and tearful Senior assembly highlighted the beginning of our March to March coverage for '64. Burning midnight oil for final exams, cleaning out lockers, and saying farewell to departing Seniors left us little time for our parties and picnics. Summer activities were overshadowed by anticipation for coming school year with its whirlwind of study and fun. With these end-of-year activities, we knew that in '64 we would do more.

AFTER LONG hours of tedious work, 1963 Golden OWL is given to students, faculty, and friends.

Patience, Guidance Lead Students

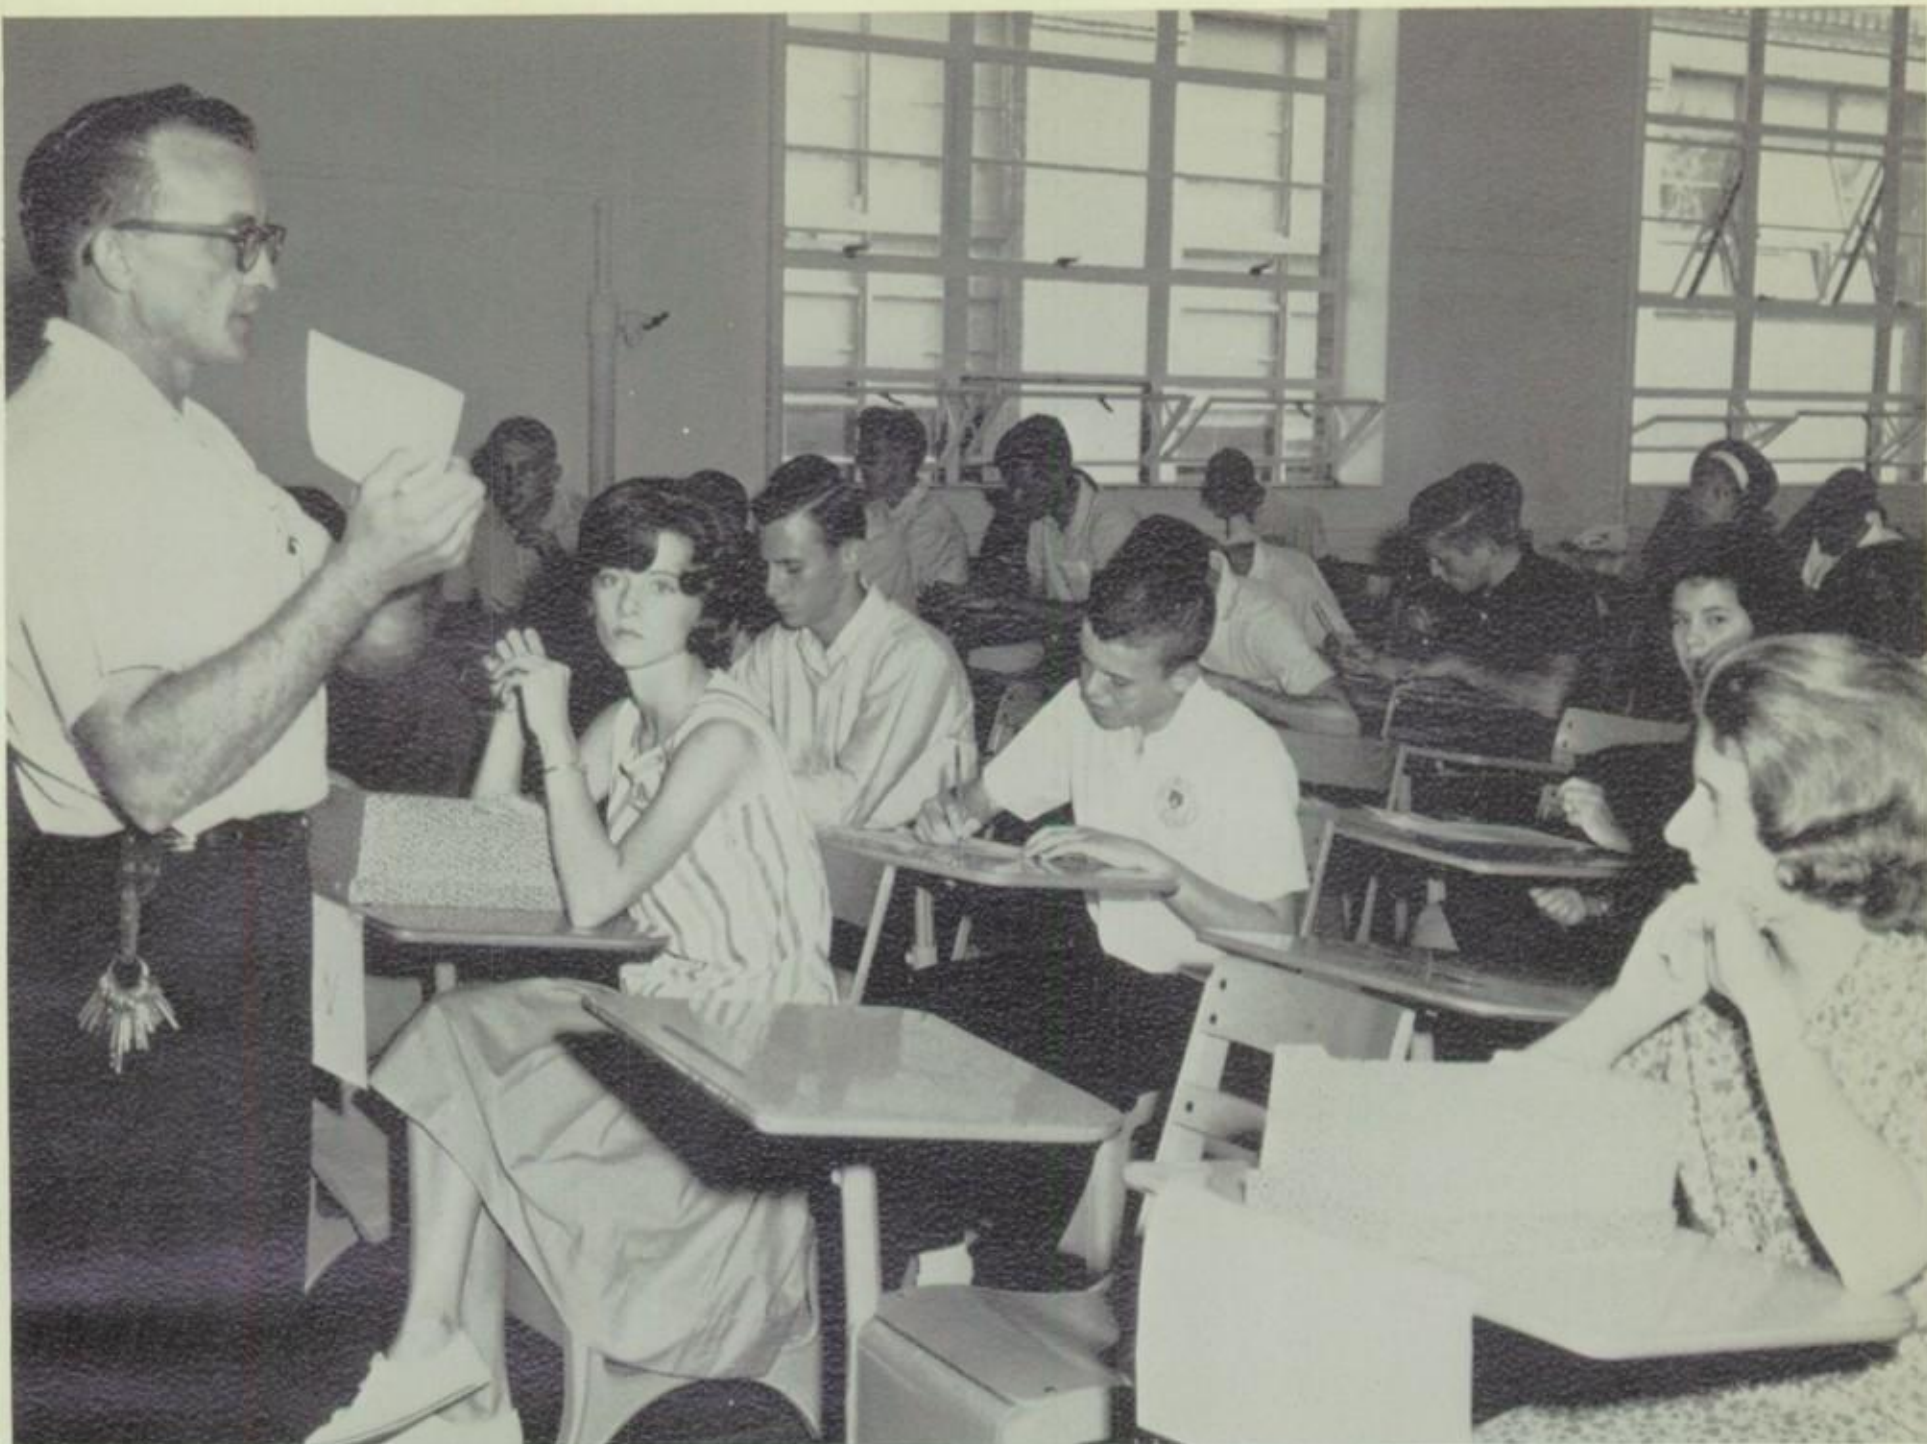

MARGARET DODD "spices up" bulletin board with Texas Revolution material for her part in group assignments, a portion of Texas history curriculum.

CAROLYN KING sweeps grave marker of first Anglo-American woman buried in Texas. Nym Barker, Linda Deweese, and Linda McDaniel study epitaph.

WITH NINE months of knowledge and two nights of hard cramming behind, Jerry Shannon struggles through extra-tough final exam in English.

ANXIOUS JUNIORS listen intently as Mr. Bobby Dennison, Junior class sponsor, explains in detail how registration cards should be filled out.

Look out, world, here we come! School was ended for another year. Half-closed, sleepy eyes—weary from cramming for tough, final exams—flurry of last minute special reports to add a few precious points, and a steady buzz of suppressed excitement were proof that drudgery was over for another year.

Final bell heralded summer school. Once again temporarily empty halls were partially filled with students pressured for extra credits or merely urged on to grasp bits of knowledge lost in winter snowstorm. Monotony? Not summer school! It was coke breaks, trips, and various means of learning summed up by expressions of "Why can't school be like this all the time?"

“Prom Magic”

“SANDY” JENNINGS and Joe Clark experience atmosphere of “Twilight at Tara” in receiving line as they are greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Dee Cunningham on Prom Night, '63.

Prom Night had magic ring to ears of Juniors, Seniors, and selected Sophomores. We sensed magic as we swept two by two across threshold of “Tara” into twilight world of Junior-Senior Prom. We promenaded endless length of floor to stand with relief at our places in line. Under starry skies we sang old Southern ballads and danced to twang of banjo playing tunes of Civil War times. Others laughed and talked on veranda of mansion as they were served by Southern belles and beaus. This was our “PROM MAGIC,” May 3, 1963.

Knowledge,

Paris High School students moved forward in traditional spirit in various phases of learning—through knowledge, creativity, leadership, friendship, and counseling.

Through wide range of academic courses, students acquired vast storehouse of knowledge to prepare them for future roles as world citizens. Vocational arts served as outlets for creative ability, talent, and ingenuity. Leaders of school government stressed importance of liberty and concern for welfare of others. They further demonstrated needs for loyalty and patriotism in student life.

Club activities and service organizations offered numerous opportunities for friendship with both old and new PHS'ers who projected learning as they exchanged ideas with one another. Career guidance shed light on goals as students realized importance of scholarship through basic learning.

As PHS leaned toward future, her students continued to seek new ideas and increase their potentials. Accomplishment was key word in daily activities as never-ending streams of learning poured into all minds.

EAGER TO make high grade, Tommy Ellington "sweats out" algebra exam. Similar were scenes throughout PHS as students strived to manifest knowledge acquired from months of study.

AGAINST CHINESE setting of Flower Drum Song, Future Homemaker Wanda Ballard displays her creation in fashion show.

SENIOR CLASS officers, Lynn Jones, Sammy Rieger, and Johnny Parker, are recognized at orientation for new students.

AMID CLAMORING students packing study hall on day of registration, Mary Yates, Donald Armstrong, and Pat Murphy take time out to compare schedules for new term.

Tight schedule of activities from March to March was followed by student body as participation in curricular and extracurricular events kept all in a whirlwind of eager anticipation of doing more in '64.

End-of-year activities were highlighted by Senior class play, prom, picnics, and graduation. Little time had elapsed before we were back in the groove of school life with pre-registration.

School began with palpitation and apprehension of new ideas and attitudes brought about by loss of Freshman class. PHS was now a senior high school in the strictest sense. Revolution in this phase brought a maturing sense to do more in '64.

Presentation of Trophy

As chilled winds of March blew into Paris, PHS stirred with busy activities. Juniors prepared "Mid-summer Nightmare" skits to be presented as money-making project for prom. Seniors swung into preparations for Senior Class Play and the first Senior-Faculty banquet as choir tripped to contests and added high ratings to its accomplishments.

New York! Dream came true for seven Owl staffers, Mrs. C. M. Townsend, and Sponsor Miss Martha Hankins who attended Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention in March. For six glorious, fun-filled, educational days, they were carried into far-off world of new discoveries, magnificent sights, and unbelievable architectural feats of big city and Great White Way.

Subways, skyscrapers, ferry boats, Statue of Liberty, Washington Square, and Greenwich Village were all discovered in a whirl of sleepless days and nights.

Paris High School's delegation all too soon was brought back to earth again as they jetted home to Texas and to all the work to be done before the 1963 "Golden" Owl could be presented in its grand debut.

Annual Senior play marked beginning of end-of-school activities. Into this production each year goes hours and hours of practice plus tears and other little joys. In the 1963 play, Dear Ruth, each character was double cast, understudies being ready at a moment's notice to step into respective roles.

As curtain went up on April 25, 1963, and lights were lowered, there was hushed silence as standing-room-only audience saw what determination and hard work by dedicated director, Mrs. Hubert Kenemer, Senior sponsors, and loyal cast can do.

MR. C. GRADY Secrest, poetry editor of 1922 Owl, holds "golden" Owl, about which he wrote poem for 50th Owl, as he talks with Miss Martha Hankins, adviser.

One year's work covered fifty as 1963 Owl staffers recorded history of past forty-nine yearbook staffs and volumes they produced. In producing the fiftieth volume of The Owl, the staff worked closely with Parisians who could help with historical data. Thorough coverage was necessary in activities, sports, organizations, classes, and advertising not only for 1963 but for the past yearbooks published by PHS students.

Owl office was, for 1963 staff, scene of crucial conflict with time as it fought to produce a successful yearbook around a unique idea — Shadows of the Past Light the Future.

"We present to you our 1963 Golden Owl," said Jack McCubbin amid tension and anticipation in a gymnasium packed with students, ex-staff members, parents, and friends of PHS. Excitement reigned as Miss Stella Mae Crain was revealed as dedicatee and presented her copy of 1963 Owl.

As students waited impatiently, final moment arrived with announcement, "You may now come to gym floor and receive your copy of the Golden Anniversary Owl." Students pushed toward distribution desks and after briefly looking through the new book, entered wholeheartedly into the autographing party which followed.

The student on the right, also wearing glasses and a light-colored shirt, is focused on a task. The table is cluttered with various items, including books, papers, and a striped folder. In the background, several other students are visible, some standing and some sitting, all seemingly engaged in similar activities. The room is filled with numerous cardboard boxes, suggesting a process of organizing or moving materials. The overall atmosphere is one of quiet industry and collaborative effort.

AFTER HOURS of preparing, Juniors and Seniors patiently await their turn in reception line.

"Twilight at Tara" was theme for 1963 prom. Juniors and Seniors danced on lawn of replica of Scarlett O'Hara's colonial mansion under boughs of magnolia trees and star-twinkling southern skies as combo played in wisteria draped bandstand summer house.

Guests were entertained by Miss Lois Nelson, who presented monologue of Aunt Jemima, and Mr. Roy Glenn, who performed banjo solo, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Weger.

For Juniors, prom was end of successful project; Seniors, last prom; and for Sophomores, it was the beginning of looking forward to future proms.

In May, another year almost gone, we dreamed of leisurely, sun-filled days of summer.

1963 Graduation Climaxes Four

A great time — time of reward, moment of mixed emotions, mingled with joy and sadness, for 197 graduating Seniors. Four years of hard work, easy-going fun and laughter faded into oblivion. Within few hours all was in past. It had gone, never to be relived, only to be remembered. This special night marked turning point in lives of 1963 graduates. Starlight added to ceremonies as class of '63 left role of leadership to '64 Seniors. High school days were over; they were ex-students.

FACULTY sponsors for graduating class of '63 receive from Class President Jack McCubbin tokens of graduates' appreciation.

GRADUATES and faculty take seats in First Methodist Church for Commencement Services.

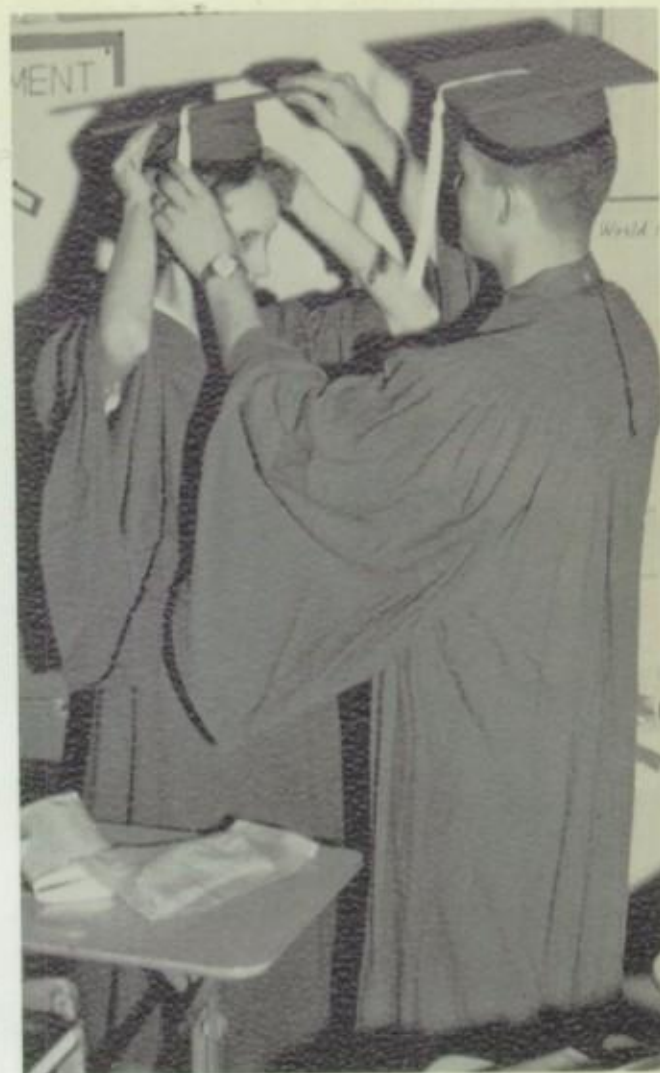

“With a bang,” Class of 1963 completed high school. They filled well posts which they guarded. With graduation, opening of high school texts came to end. Exams and chats between classes about picnics and parties slipped away as graduates separated, each to own path.

Three things, at least, the class called its own—the first Faculty-Senior Banquet, Talent Night back in school calendar for two years, and a predominance of boys with high scholastic averages! And we must include the Fiftieth Anniversary of school yearbook in these accomplishments.

As Others Enjoy Leisurely Summer, 247

"So you think summer school is easy?" It was fun, but not without a hitch, for we did more through interesting projects, time-consuming field trips, and hour-long morning lectures.

In eight short weeks, four and one-half months of concise learning were presented to many eager and few not-so-eager minds by staff of dedicated, patient teachers. Thus began new method of learning for those who had come for glimmer of knowledge, but found brightly-lighted torch instead.

Math, civics, Texas history, English IV grammar, and typing were taught to 114. Vocational courses of homemaking and student drivers' training called 133 students, making a grand total of 247 enrolled in 1963 summer school classes.

DAVID DEES extends warm welcome to Governor John Connally as he is escorted to special assembly in his honor.

Summer was quickly lost in hustle and bustle of registration and other pre-school activities. Confusion reigned as students of Paris High School began another year with eager anticipation. Absence of "Fish" reduced crowded corridors and classrooms only slightly. Bulging lockers were somewhat relieved, but school spirit soared with motto, "Each one giving his 110%," initiated by our new staff of coaches. O-Day, club meetings, and visit of Governor of Texas, John Connally, highlighted first-of-school events. This was the year not soon forgotten, as Alma Mater, "Loyal and True," began to sink deep into hearts and minds of all PHS'ers.

October moved into scene with homecoming activities and new safety rules to be obeyed. Homecoming bonfire boosted spirit and morale of all.

Juniors started raising funds for prom through rummage sale and Talent Night. Other classes and organizations strived for best skit through hard practice. Initiations "swarmed" PHS as students' attire changed from children's dress to costumes of various countries.

Special assembly introduced six Owl Sweetheart nominees in a hootenanny, yearbook style. Each class presented its nominees to student body with a folk song reworded to fit the occasion.

NERVOUSLY awaiting moment of revelation, nominees, Carol Kaye Mallory, Jeanie Weger, and Linda Hawkins; escorts, "Skipper" Steely, Glen Nash, and Robert Bryans, stand before outgoing Queen who will crown queen for 1963.

Homecoming Day! After much preparation, it arrived bringing with it 300 exes and friends of PHS. Throughout day exes registered and roamed halls, noting how things had changed; yet there was still that air of familiarity about their Alma Mater. Gym, packed with students and friends, was tense setting for Homecoming assembly. One by one, beautiful nominees were presented. First came Linda Hawkins, followed by Jeanie Weger and Carol Kaye Mallory. As they added their charm, 1962 Queen Pat Kemp addressed audience on meaning of being Homecoming Queen.

With all its splendor, night of October 11, 1963, arrived. At half time, loud speaker blared, "Miss Carol Kaye Mallory." Then came kiss and bouquet of mums; Carol Kaye began her reign!

WHICH should it be? Student body could choose only one of these beauties who were presented at Homecoming Assembly.

This marked era of new Owl Sweethearts—Owl Sweethearts of 1964. September 10, O-Day, students who purchased an Owl placed their choice for Owl Sweetheart nominees. On October 3, a narrowed list was presented in which students voted their choice from top candidates. Sophomore nominees, Danny Ball and Kay Szekely; Juniors, “Abe” Taack and Sandra Johnson; and Seniors, Robert Bryans and Joyce Cooper were presented by Owl staff in “Hootenanny” style skit. Immediately after assembly, students cast votes for class of their choice for 1964 Sweethearts. Results were kept secret until November 1, Talent Night, when Co-Editors of Owl and Mr. Dee Cunningham presented red banners to Seniors—Owl Sweethearts for 1964.

Student-teacher relationships grew stronger in PHS classes during 1963-64 school term. Instructor and instructed joined in contests and studies with one helping the other.

English classes climbed to new heights as students explored mysteries of Julius Caesar, Silas Marner, Macbeth, and other great works. Exotic languages of France, Rome, Germany, and Mexico intrigued others while the universal language, mathematics, led indulgers on chase for values of "x" and solution to seemingly unequal equations. Physics, odoriferous chemistry and biology labs fired initiative of participators in science courses. Yet, others turned interests toward problems of today's world through social science studies. Students found journalism, business courses, and the arts advantageous in our ever-changing world.

SCHOOL BOARD members, architect, and superintendent inspect Travis Junior High School before accepting it from contractor.

Major achievement in 1963-64 school term was opening of two junior high schools to relieve the pressure of numbers at Paris High School by making room for group of potential scholars who would have been PHS Freshman class of '64.

School board took keen interest in all school proceedings. It approved changes in classrooms and improvements in equipment at PHS. Safety was stressed, and eagerly-awaited tables replaced out-moded desks in physics laboratory. Repairs were made in various parts of building, and approximately half of PHS was repainted.

Superintendent Thomas S. Justiss worked with school board. He led inspection tours of all buildings and found many ways to make schools safer and more effective. Schools grew with Paris in '64!

Main Office Serves as Hub in Wheel

Main office was vital part of busy life of PHS in '64. Twenty-four girls, under supervision of Mrs. A.V. Wacasey, served as office assistants, collecting attendance records, answering phone, delivering telephone messages, operating mimeograph machine and relaying important notices to classes.

In his fourteenth year as principal of PHS, Mr. Dee Cunningham was "man behind the scenes" of school life. Devoted friend of students, he always made himself available for conferences with students and faculty alike. His friendly manner and willingness to help made him the ideal leader of Paris High.

Also working in main office were Mr. Joel Casey and Mrs. A. V. Wacasey. Mr. Casey, in his first year at PHS, was Assistant Principal. Mrs. Wacasey was indispensable as Secretary to Principal. Main office linked various phases of student life into single wheel of co-operative activity.

MAIN OFFICE problems are resolved by Mrs. A. V. Wacasey, Assistant Principal Mr. Joel Casey, and Principal Mr. Dee Cunningham, B.S., M.S., E.T.S.C.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS are Lucy Hodgkiss, Cyndy Walker, Melba Barnett, Barbara Harrison, Tricia Harrison, Dana Sales, Joyce Cooper, Joan Rucker, Amy Stanley, Randle Evans, Jayne Pulliam, Linda Deweese, DeeAnn Brown, Mary Yates, Carol Boatright, and Cindy Barker. Seated are Berna McElroy, Carolyn King, Lynn Jones, Susan McCain, Paulette Rainey, Linda Hawkins, and Peggy Shew.

World's most spoken language, English, was taught by ten diligent faculty members who faced thirty-seven classes daily.

Sophomores struggled with Silas Marner. Juniors gained insight into American literature through studying leading writers. Seniors investigated British literary world from Chaucer to Churchill. Classes sought greater knowledge of fundamental grammar.

STS classes allowed students to gain fuller view of functions of English. These classes upheld controlled reading, with such works as Les Miserables, The Scarlet Letter, and My Antonia augmenting students' treasury of literary knowledge.

Teachers led; students followed. English department advanced its cause: to further develop minds of students toward correct usage and encourage study of classical works.

Tricky Equations in '64 Math Classes

Solving complex formulae became familiar task for math students after classes convened on September 9, 1963. During summer months, students acquired a thirst for knowledge in field of mathematics. They searched during school term for hidden values of "x", drew polygons with odd proportions, and carefully labored over seemingly endless rows of figures.

As pupils waded to "get feet wet," they found problems such as $x + 3 = y$. . . if line is parallel to plane . . . $2 \cos A \sin B$, confronting them daily. Interested masters backed efforts as students "revved" their engines to turn crank of algebra, trig, geometry, physics, and general math to extricate correct answers.

Although instructors in math classes numbered six to 532 students, good student-teacher relationships were the rule, as PHS'ers taking courses dealing with those dependable, never-lying numbers strived to do more in '64.

"LONG LIVE the Confederacy!" exclaims Mr. Benny Bauer in special assembly provided by social science department.

Students enrolled in social science courses at PHS endeavored to learn more of their heritage of freedom in order that they might be better citizens of tomorrow's world. Captain John Smith said, "History is the memory of time, the life of the dead, the happiness of the living."

As well as study of yesterday, today's events were in students' minds, implemented by study aids such as The World News. It brought world to doorstep of classroom and kept students cognizant of international affairs. Current history was in forefront of every mind with assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, on November 22, 1963. Realization of responsibility Americans have in world today was one result of the tragic occurrence. It woke America to sense of past and allegiance to ideals of democracy.

Four hundred thirty students gained knowledge from five courses included in social science department. World and American history as well as government were required for graduation from Paris High. In addition, economics and Texas history were offered as one-half year courses to students interested in broadening knowledge.

New Techniques Taught in

Aroma of cooking food which tantalized students of Paris High was produced by sixty girls enrolled in Homemaking A. This part of homemaking program included feeding the family, home nursing, and child development. Seventy-one girls enrolled in Homemaking B, which included sewing, endeavored to learn new techniques. Homemaking B also included textiles, housing, and home management.

In addition to regular home economics courses, a new course, Home and Family Living, was offered to girls with little or no homemaking experience. Forty-seven girls wished to learn more about personal and family relationships and fundamentals of building happy homes.

Thirty art students accepted challenge of creativity offered by art class. Students were given opportunity to express themselves through medium of tempera, charcoal, pencil, watercolor, and oil.

Scales, T-squares, compasses, and triangles became familiar tools to students enrolled in mechanical drawing. Accuracy and precision were objectives of students as they worked to become engineers of tomorrow.

Boys taking vocational agriculture never experienced a dull moment as challenging class work and numerous field trips made agriculture one of "fastest moving" courses in school. Boys learned first-hand methods of conserving soil, dehorning cattle, and testing grass samples to become farmers of future.

Ability of boys to work with their hands accounted for large enrollment in wood and metal shop courses. Boys in these courses learned to fashion many useful and decorative items. They were given opportunity to use talent and interest through power tools and welding equipment.

Students of PHS strived for higher education in business through study of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping.

In typing there were timed writings taken to improve accuracy and speed; while in shorthand, students took transcription tests, dictation, and brief form quizzes. Students worked diligently for contest held in February with classes competing with each other. Winners were chosen according to number of words typed per minute and amount of dictation taken for five minutes.

Bookkeeping students learned to balance books, make checking accounts, and understand use of business forms. PHS business department offered all phases of business study to its students.

Five science teachers endeavored to instruct students in various courses in science available at PHS through use of charts, models, lectures, projects, and experiments. Accelerated courses were offered in biology and chemistry for the superior and talented student. These courses were in addition to the regular courses in science field.

If one walked by chemistry lab during second semester, he would see students feverishly working to complete generals or unknowns before lab closed for last time. Or he might sense "faint" odor of formaldehyde from biology labs during the day. To see physics students "sweating out" one of Mr. Eugene Thielman's tests was a usual sight. to Excel in Fitness Program

Keeping in shape and more was what 270 PE students at PHS did in 1963-64. Beginning this year, all students were required to take one semester of health education to graduate. Students participated in such activities as volleyball, basketball, baseball, and calisthenics.

One complete semester was devoted to study of health and methods of first aid. This gave students better understanding of body and pointed out importance of being in best possible physical condition. Physical education department stressed physical fitness through daily schedule of exercises.

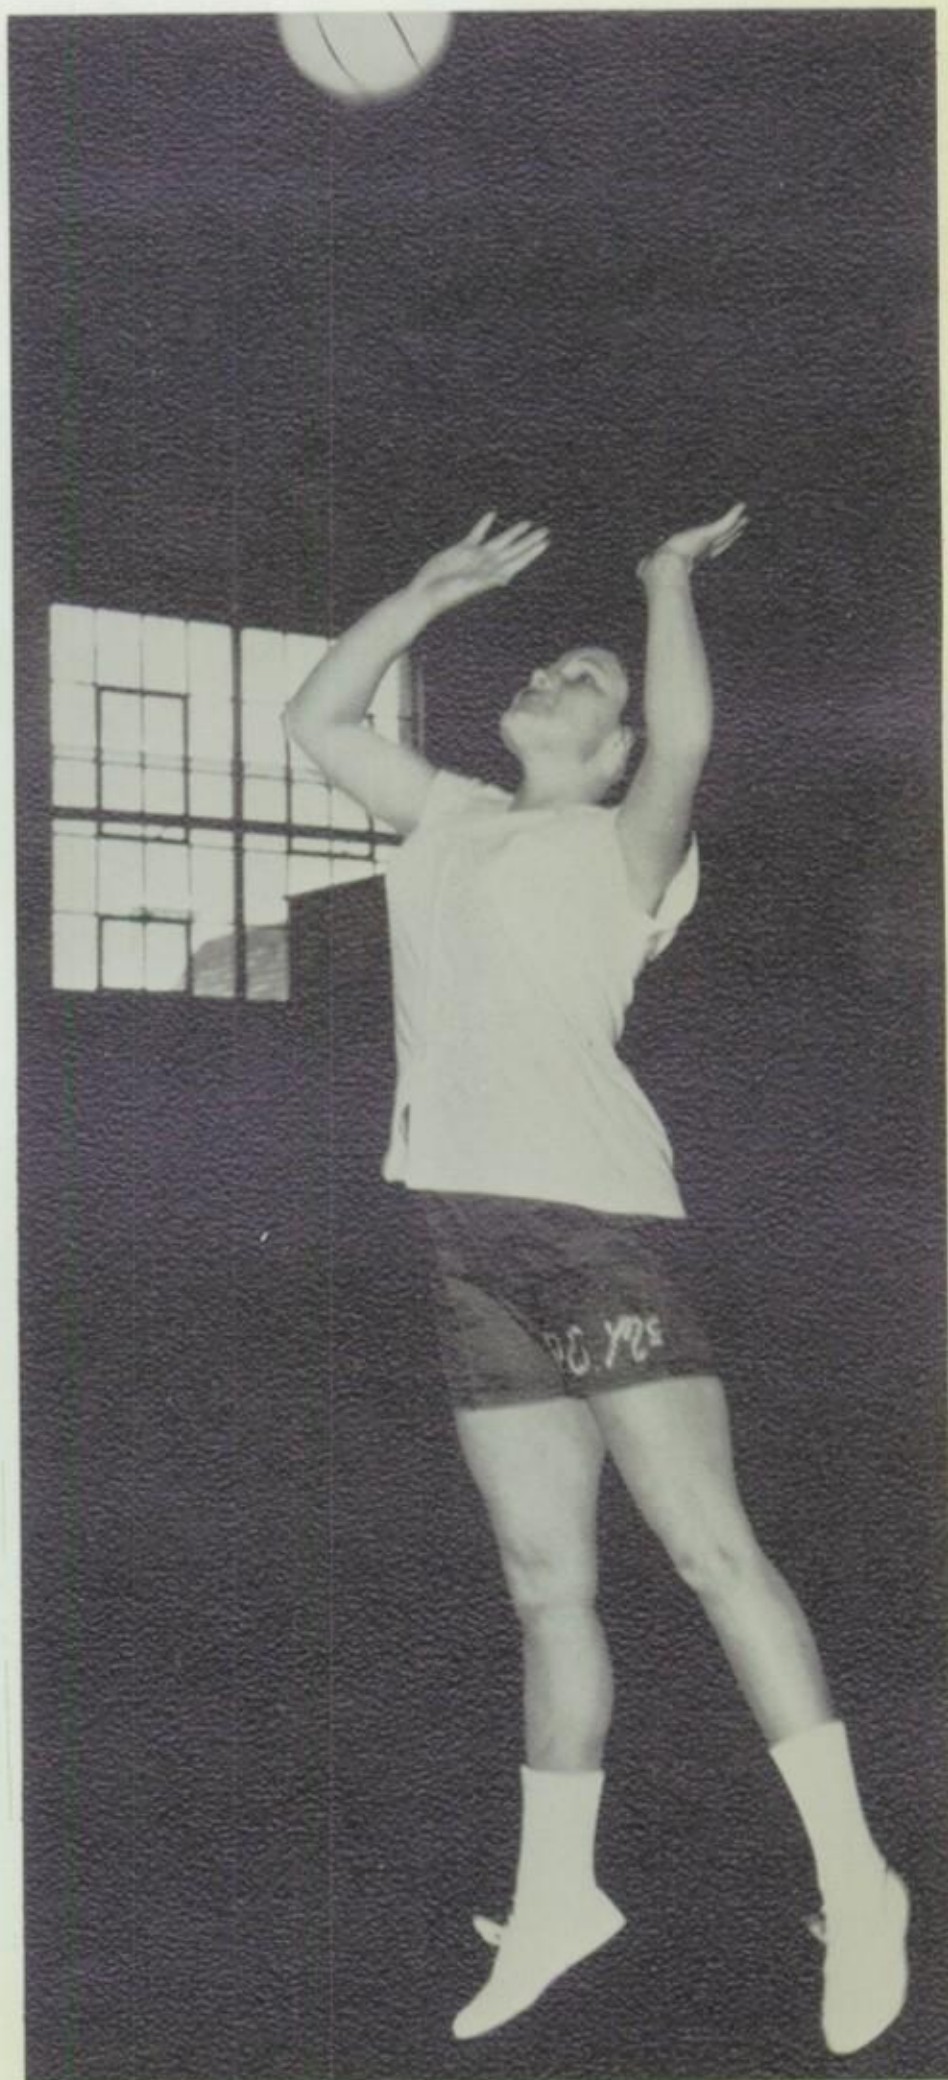

Students competed in three physical fitness tests per year to determine how they compared with other students across nation.

IT'S BACK across net for this volleyball as Phyllis McHam exhibits co-ordinating skill she has developed in physical education class participation.

IN DEEP concentration, Loyd Bradford attempts to excel his record number of squat thrusts.

"FIRST AID is important," agree Jerlene Jones, Barbara Greenlee, Janis Nelson, and Karen Holmes.

Participants in clubs and organizations of PHS in '64 learned meaning of phrase, "Hold out hand of friendship," as they entered into spirit of competition and merriment with zeal of accomplishment. Fellowship proved key word during 1963-64 school term as students joined hand-in-hand, determined to do more in exhilarating year of '64.

As a result of this, opening of school brought with it initiates of myriad organizations of Paris High. Halls of Alma Mater thronged with foreign language scholars rigged in native garbs of exotic lands, along with sprinkling of wandering gypsies.

Club members, aided by these student get-togethers, made close friends, began new year with new studies, and settled down to making '64 the best year.

"What's happening down at the Forum?" was frequent question in the corridors as "Romans" at Paris High School proved that "Labor Omnia Vincit" (work conquers all—club motto) as they sold book covers, vended pencils, and auctioned slaves. Fun, too, was in store as Talent Night and initiation moved onto scene. Finally and most important, knowledge was link that bridged modern with classical world.

All roads led to Rome under leadership of Sponsor Mrs. E. V. Hegborn as sixty-seven Latin students of Romani Hodierni examined customs and cultures of ancient Greeks and Romans. CHRISTMAS SPIRIT is "in the air" as President Jim Rooks, Vice-President Regina Reed, Sponsor Miss Mary Jackson, Secretary-Treasurer Cassie Maddox, Program Chairman Susan Jack, Chaplain Wanda Roland, and Reporter Randy Hale prepare to deliver makings of Christmas dinner to needy family.

Adelante, siempre adelante—Onward, always onward—was motto of 1964 chapter of Pan American Student Forum, organized in 1960 by present Sponsor Miss Mary Jackson. Thirty-one members strove to attain high goals that would better international relations, not only in Spanish-speaking countries but also at home. Newly inducted senors and senoritas suffered many consequences on day of PASF initiation. Highlighting club year was spicy Christmas party! Members also participated in worthwhile projects including sharing happiness with needy family at Christmas, traveling to PASF convention in Austin in March, and taking part in spring picnic.

"HELP YOURSELF" is motto of Betty Jackson and Sharon Keys as they begin "chow line" at annual PASF spring picnic at Lake Crook.

Spanish Flare Entices Students

"Learning to do, Doing to Learn, Earning to Live, Living to Serve" was motto by which fifty-two boys lived to be better farmers of tomorrow. Assisted by sponsor, boys learned technical knowledge in classroom and then applied this knowledge to their supervised program of livestock and crop projects.

Mr. D. B. Shelton has sponsored FFA chapter at Paris High School since its inception in 1939. Included in activities for this year was trip to State Fair in Dallas, where members studied livestock and agricultural exhibits.

"TOUGH BABY" Joe Proffer shows others in bar scene who is toughest in FFA Talent Night skit, "Tough Baby from the Long Branch."

HOMEWORK IS supplied for these two students as Dennis Smith explains to David Shields the "how" of nursing this calf from a bucket.

"DIGGING FOR gold?" No! Only Mr. D. B. Shelton as he shows class art of digging for soil samples to test for crop planting.

Future Nurses Are Career Minded

FUTURE NURSES make plans for year at first club meeting. Projects are discussed by school nurse and Sponsor Mrs. R. T. Perry, Billie Moree, President Kathy Chamberlain, and Sponsor Mrs. Jerald Dodd. Other officers include Secretary-Treasurer Sandra McKnight, Chaplain Mary Ann Jackson, and Reporter Melba Barnett.

“Will I ever learn?” was question often heard by sponsors of Future Nurses Club as members acquired more thorough knowledge of training and hard work that goes into preparation for nursing career. Members enjoyed films, guest lectures, tours of hospitals; they gave both time and energy to others by working in hospital auxiliaries and by participation in various civic fund drives. The officers and sponsors guided the girls in self-rewarding services and in preparation for entrance into nurses’ training institutions.

Folk Singing Initiates New Club

FOLK SONG CLUB OFFICERS

President	Tommy Adams
Vice-President	David Dees
Secretary-Treasurer	Martha Burch
Reporter	Charlotte Mullins
Sponsor	Mr. Marvin Cannon

For first time in Paris High School a club for folk music lovers was created. Meetings on Tuesdays and Thursdays brought enjoyment to those attending. Forty-seven members prepared Christmas caroling and “Hootenanny.” Correspondence with groups from surrounding communities inspired growth of folk singing in form of other folk song clubs.

ALTHOUGH SEVEN degrees and snowing, these folk singers create music for downtown Parisians and bring Christmas songs to old people at Pleasant Grove Convalescent Home during holiday season.

Key Club Serves School, Community

KEY CLUB officers Sammy Rieger, Treasurer; Walter Beard, Vice-President; Walter Bassano, President; and David Kennemer, Secretary, get canned foods ready for Christmas basket.

LOUIS WILLIAMS and David Hinds empty one can of trash as Freddy Brown, Jimmy McNeal, and Tommy Whitten keep working to keep PHS campus clean.

RADIO DAY, money-making project for Key Club, is headed by Walter Bassano and "Skipper" Steely with help of KPLT disc jockey Jack Pieper.

JOHNNY WILLIAMS rings bell for Salvation Army as Bob Kennemer helps with contributions.

Service, both to school and community, has been uppermost in minds of Key Clubbers since organized in PHS in 1956. Parking cars at rodeo, cleaning up campus, conducting radio day and assisting other service organizations in Paris were just a few of many projects which helped leaders of tomorrow carry out their motto, "We build . . ."

Money raised when members took over radio station KPLT for a day was used to buy scholarship awards for honor graduates and one scholarship to Paris Junior College for an outstanding Senior. Most outstanding service during year was taking over donation booths for Salvation Army at Christmas. Other money-making projects included sponsoring after-game dance for benefit of March of Dimes. Contributions to this were further increased by collecting funds from fans during half time at a basketball game.

Others Uppermost in Minds of FHA'ers

TOYS FOR needy children is one of projects of Chapter I. Here Fire Chief Mr. Earl Sherley accepts toys, which will be renovated by firemen for distribution, from Martha Fay Morris, Peggy Grant, and Janie Henry.

“Toward New Horizons,” motto of FHA, led members to new areas of learning and fellowship. Membership was open to those girls taking or who had taken homemaking. In four chapters there were 160 members. FHA program of work was carried out by using four national objectives. In November Chapter I presented Philosophies of Life with a panel discussion. This was first national objective—“Discovering Myself and My Worth to Others.” “Strengthening My Education for Future Roles,” third national objective, was exemplified by a symposium at March meeting with subject of “Study Habits.”

True meaning of Christmas was brought to light by Chapter II in developing National Objective II—"Contributing to the Joys and Satisfaction of Family Living"—at December meeting. Also carried out under this objective were projects concerned with preparation for marriage, total nutrition, and wholesome recreation. Important phase of FHA program was Degrees of Achievement, participated in by seven members of Chapter II, which showed personal growth. Reward for these seven was FHA meeting held in Austin.

EXCITEMENT REIGNED as the officers of Chapter II hurried to add finishing touches to chapter yearbooks.

Participation was keynote for Chapter IV as forty members carried out national, local, and state projects. At October meeting National Objective I—"Discovering Myself and My Worth to Others"—featured guest speaker Dr. William Hayden on subject of "Developing our Abilities." Presentation of program in February featured National Objective III—"Strengthening by Education for Future Roles"—in which several ex-students told of vital importance of education. Fun and fellowship were enjoyed by all at round-up of entire year's activities, annual May picnic, when Girl of Year Award was presented to outstanding Future Homemaker.

Story of Future Homemakers of America grew as, throughout life, girls continued to seek true values as foundations in building better homes and communities. "For we are the builders of homes, homes for America's future . . ."

Than Words for Tri-Hi-Y

FILLED WITH excitement and pride, Junior girls are formally inducted into Tri-Hi-Y with repeating of creed led by Amy Stanley and Linda Hawkins.

“Pure thoughts, pure words, and pure actions,” esteemed motto of Tri-Hi-Y, characterized high goals set by members in school work and in everyday living. Service projects were vital part of organization as members dedicated themselves to others’ needs.

As colorful gypsies, eighty-seven Junior girls were forced to succumb to harassing tasks premeditated by initiating Seniors. Western Day regalia designated controversial ideas as to conventional dress of “dudes” and “cowpokes.” Spring prefaced formality in dress with Valentine and Spring Dance. Year’s activities were climaxed with the naming of Tri-Hi-Y Hero at Valentine.

BEWITCHING GYPSY Diane Rodgers accepts more beads for her collection from Amy Stanley as reward for best-dressed Gypsy on Tri-Hi-Y Initiation Day.

Summer was very busy for seventy members of Katie Feeser Chapter of Texas Future Teachers of America. Miss Delors Word and Miss Stella Mae Crain gathered the clan and decided to use as 1964 theme, Alice in Wonderland. From Alice in Wonderland ideas for programs and prize-winning skit, "Alice and Blue Rabbit," were drawn.

Acting was not only activity of Future Teachers. 884 hours were spent by members helping teachers in this year. Valentines were sent to retired teachers; special school students enjoyed Easter egg hunt given by FTA. A dance and a car wash helped implement treasury.

PHS chapter has been organized only eleven years, but during this time members have attended conventions, meetings, helped teachers, and worked toward becoming good teachers in chosen fields of study.

LILTING MUSIC presented by choir and speech department hold students enthralled during Christmas program, "Go Ye to Bethlehem."

Raise Voices in Song

Sixty-seven voices in A choir and twenty-seven in B choir worked for perfection in musical sound and audience appeal. Effort proved worthwhile when Christmas program was presented to students on December 20, 1963. Other programs for school and civic organizations kept choir active throughout year.

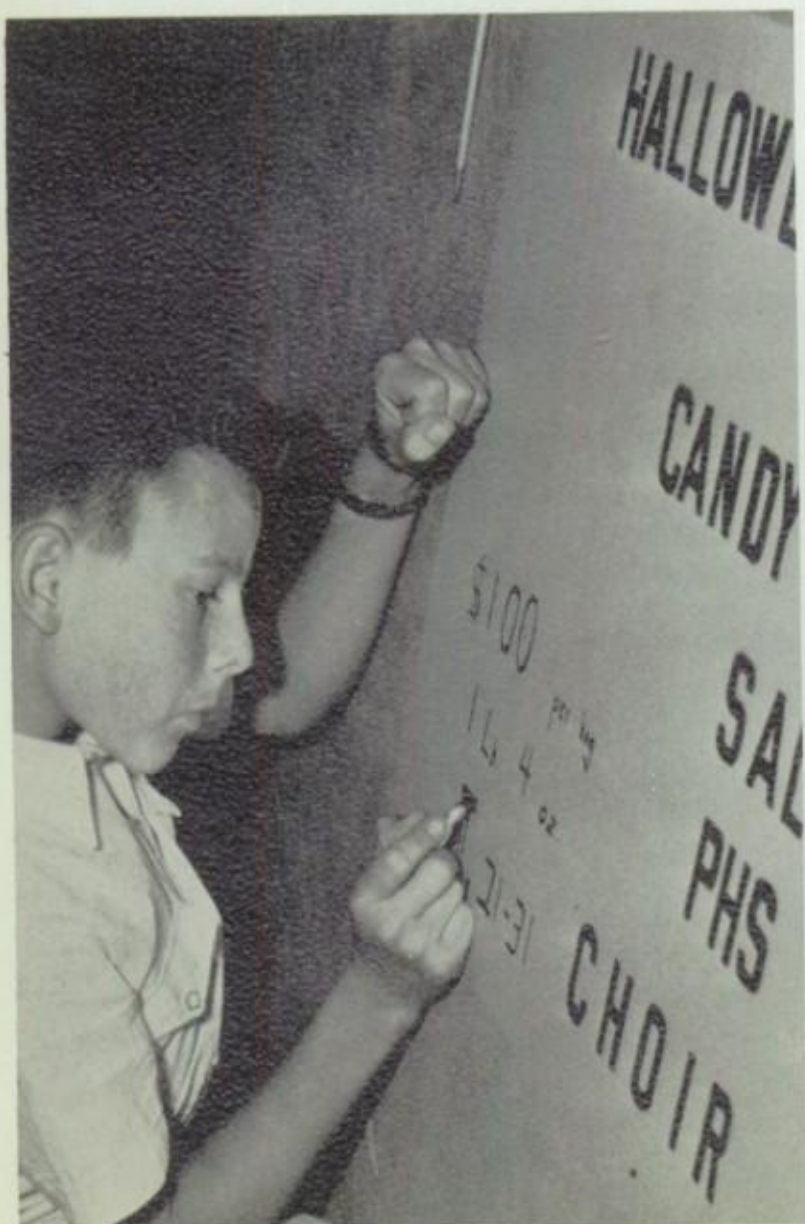

On November 14, thirty-two members journeyed to Texarkana to enter stiff competition for All-Region and All-State Choirs. Seventeen made the All-Region Choir. In final auditions, Thomas Seay and Randy Towers were chosen for All-State Choir; Betty McFadden, Paul Hutchins, and Danny Shaeffer were selected as alternates to All-State Choir. Donna McLaughlin, choir accompanist, was named as All-Region accompanist.

Officers who served choir for school year were President "Butch" Green, Vice-President Thomas Seay, Secretary Melanie Nesbit, and Treasurer Donna McLaughlin.

October 10 marked date of Homecoming bonfire which almost wasn't. Fire was lighted night before by a few over-anxious PJC'ers, but general call for help brought fuel for new bonfire. Hayride came forth on November 2 in all its freezing glory as cold weather made blankets necessary. The Old West moved in on PHS on November 1 when 296 cowpokes took over halls. "TRICK OR treat" seems to be mostly "treat" for Cats' Meow staffers, Linda Starks, Darlene Jackson, Mrs. Robert Bowers, Don Molino, Julia Asbill, and Carol Klingbeil as they set aside duties for paper for Halloween party.

"Did you know. . ." Cats' Meow staff obtained valuable experience and training as week after week it provided teen life in The Paris News. Fads and fashions, latest news of school life, sports, and club beats kept six reporters alert and on-the-go. With helping hand of Sponsor Mrs. Robert Bowers to guide them, staff drew layouts, wrote features and headlines. Homecoming excitement was increased with first Cats' Meow supplement.

Yuletide festivities included Christmas party at home of sponsor. Collection of memories was brought home when Cats' Meow and Owl staffers attended THSPA Convention in Denton. Teamwork and fun combined with service and career development equaled Cats' Meow in '64.

Color, Pageantry, Inspiration aptly described Miss Fran Hicks' "Mighty Six." Yell leaders were kept busy throughout year practicing new and old yells, making posters, decorating lockers, and encouraging school spirit through pep rallies, parades, and enthusiasm at all athletic events.

The Wildcat at their feet was symbol for PHS spirit exhibited by yell leaders, regardless of weather, defeats, and required amount of time and effort. With support and supervision of Sponsor Hicks, yell leaders exuded spirit, energy, ideas, color, and that "do-or-die" attitude for old Paris High.

Initiation for '64 Owl staff began in summer as plans for fifty-first edition began to materialize. Drawing layouts, writing, counting copy, and proofing became daily activity for nineteen staff members and ten assistants.

Deadlines caught staff in proofing sessions and adding "last minute touches" with sigh of relief as shipments were mailed and 1964 Owl took shape.

Bells ending classes were only five minute breaks as doors flew open, and staff rushed to basement for short respite and refreshments before another session of work.

Adding pleasure to tight schedule, staff caravanned to Denton for THSPA Convention. March found three excited staffers preparing for trip to CSPA Convention in New York City.

EVER-READY Emcees were on the job at an assembly, school meeting, or pep rally. Students chosen as Emcees served as announcers and commentators for various student gatherings throughout the year. Clipboard in hand, they could be seen each week as they gathered announcements and pertinent facts from all club sponsors.

To be an Emcee, students tried out against the best orators in Junior and Senior classes. The aim of each Emcee was to bring programs closer to students, as well as keeping all informed about school affairs.

1963 FOOTBALL SEASON

Bad luck was Friday 13th password for Wildcats, spoiling debut of Head Coach Dick Mabry. Cats were stifled on nearly every play by awesome power of John Tyler Lions as they were "stomped" 40-0. New breed of "Fighting Wildcats" appeared the next week. Surprising Cats bounced back from previous week's loss to delight home town crowd by fighting to 6-6 deadlock with highly-favored Terrell Tigers. Cats posted first 1963 season victory by defeating Duncanville in brilliant defensive game played against heavier Panthers. Paris lost to Carthage following week as Bulldogs barely made it 20-18.

Homecoming and opening of District 6AAA play suffered same fate as season's opener, as Mt. Pleasant Tigers handed Wildcats crushing blow in form of 40-0 defeat. Paris followers were given treat the next week as "Fighting Wildcats" ripped into Greenville Lions to tune of 22-14. Paris district hopes were dampened as McKinney Lions stomped Cats 34-0.

Coach Mabry refused to let even ptomaine poisoning keep him out of action as he led Cats through final home stand of year. Cats fought bravely, but Gainesville Leopards proved seven points braver. Purple Warriors of Bonham exploded over Paris following week as they shut out Cats 30-0. For first time in 28 years, Sulphur Springs won varsity football game from Paris, as they wiped out PHS by score of 44-6. The Paris record for final year in 6AAA was seven losses, two wins, and one tie. In 1964 Paris will be in District 7AAAA.

1963 "B" TEAM SEASON

Coaching staff at Paris High School took on new look for 1963 with five new faces. It was first season for Coaches George Steward and Mike Reinhardt with "B" team as 1963 schedule gave Junior Cats valuable experience on gridiron. Although "B" team was unable to secure a single victory during entire season, future varsity Wildcats learned to work together.

All "B" team games with exception of one with Bogata were with 6AAA "B" squads. Team played eight games and managed to score only three times. Opponents scored a total of 252 against "B" team for season.

JUMPING HIGH, O. B. McCloud, highest scoring Wildcat, drops ball into basket to add two points to Paris score as Gainesville player attempts to block goal. This final game of season, played in PHS gym, ended with victory for Wildcats by score of 68-60.

Cagers Lose District Title . . .

BLUE TEAMER John Reaves drives for layup against defender Joe Mashburn in annual Blue-White game assembly. Richard West eyes the action.

ROBERT BRYANS circles for attempt at basket against Ft. Worth Tech. Wildcats bounced Tech 71-47.

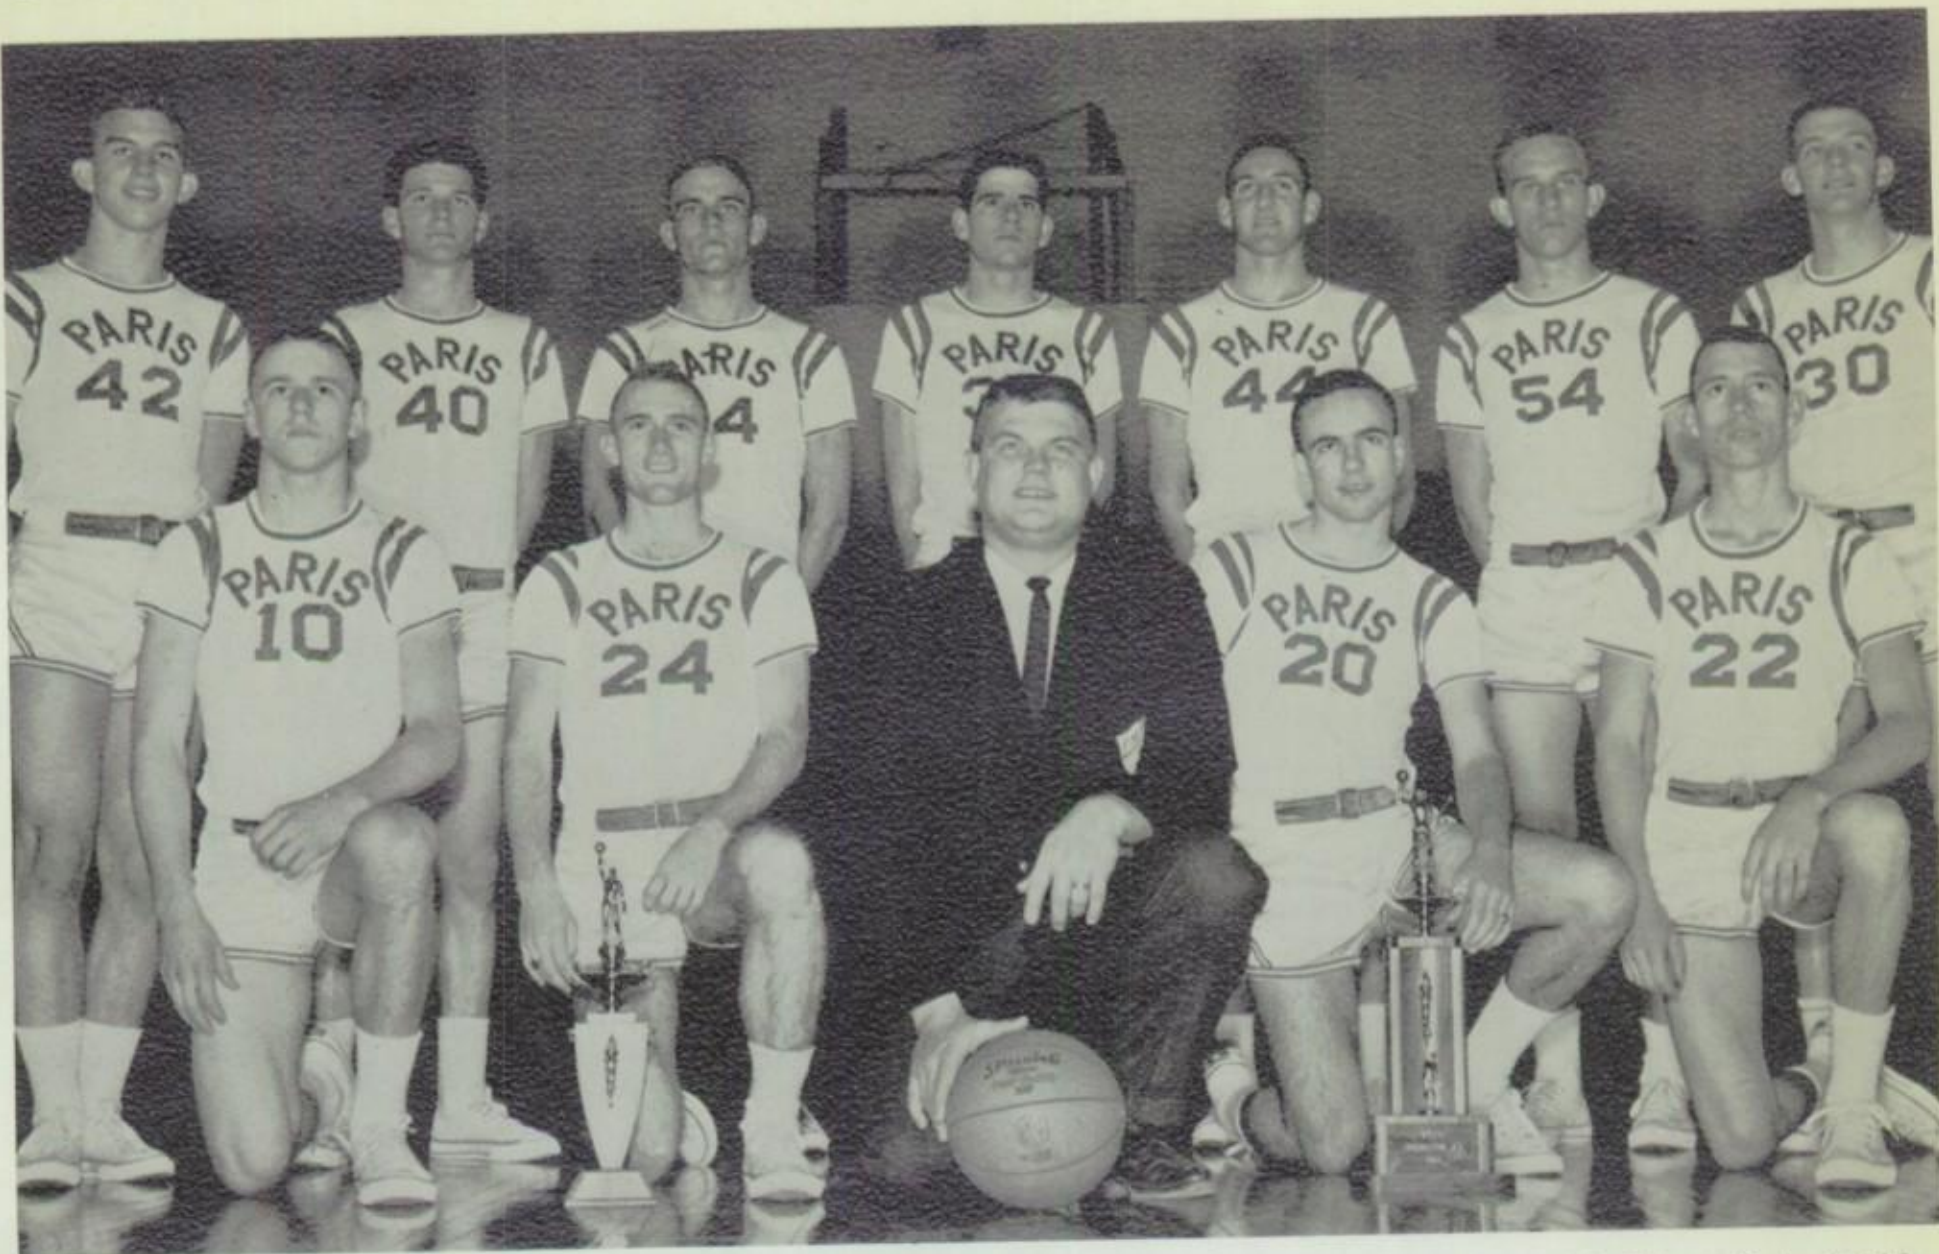

SAMMY RIEGER makes two points against McKinney Lions. Lions won contest 61-60.

WILDCAT JOHNNY Parker is engulfed by Sulphur Springs as he tries for clear pass to waiting comrades. Paris succumbed 80-73.

Tie for Third Place Honors

VARSITY SQUAD: KNEELING: Bob Long, Johnny Parker, Coach Gene Reagan, Sammy Rieger, Al Tynes. STANDING: Bob Parker, Marshall Jordan, O. B. Mc-

Cloud, Walter Beard, Kenneth McKim, Dale Hobbs, "Skipper" Steely.

Wildcat cagers, coached by Mr. Gene Reagan, ended final season of 6AAA play with 14-12 over-all record. In first outing, PHS Cats "brought home the bacon," trouncing Mt. Vernon Tigers 63-46. Three days later, Cats downed Cooper Bulldogs in non-conference action 42-38. In first of two-game series, Paris took Ft. Worth Tech 64-53; next night, Cats bombed Tech 71-47. Mt. Vernon took revenge by clipping Cats 64-62 before Cats won consolation championship in East Texas State Invitational Tournament by virtue of two wins over Commerce and one loss to Greenville. Commerce took its revenge by edging Paris 58-54 before Cats defeated Cooper 67-45. Paris lost to Adamson of Dallas 71-42 to take second in Denison Invitational Tournament. Commerce next evened their four-game series with Paris by a 49-46 win.

In first conference play, McKinney Lions out-shot Cats by one point in 61-60 thriller. Sulphur Springs proved its might by besting PHS 55-49 in first Wildcat fight of season. Greenville smashed Paris 78-40. Cats then massacred Bonham as they scalped Purple Warriors 71-54. PHS continued winning as Cats walked over Mt. Pleasant Tigers 60-43. Cats slowed down to be edged by Gainesville 44-43. Paris next out-scored McKinney 67-51.

The Hopkins County Wildcats once again moved in on Cats and won 80-73 in high-scoring game with both teams hot. Paris slumped again as Greenville dunked Cats 49-41. Paris came back strongly against Bonham, demolishing Warriors 64-47. Paris turned in decisive victory by outscoring Warriors in three periods of basketball. During fiery near-melee in which open warfare broke loose, Mt. Pleasant downed Paris 66-55. Paris found victory in final game of season, quelling Gainesville's Leopards 68-60 in last 6AAA cage contest for Wildcats.

Cats will see 7AAAA competition in 1964-65 season. With victory over Gainesville, Wildcats gained third place tie in 6AAA district standing. Paris' 5-7 district record was matched by Mt. Pleasant and McKinney. Greenville and Sulphur Springs placed first and second respectively. Paris outscored its opponents 58-53 on per-game average. Cats' highest number of points was scored against Sulphur Springs, 73 points. In same game, Sulphur Wildcats scored 80 for biggest total tallied against 1964 Cats.

BACK: Freddy Brown, James Pope, Randy Hale, John Reaves, Frankie McDowell, Billy Ayres, Johnny Williams.

In the final 6AAA basketball season, "B" team cagers got taste of conference action before tackling 7AAAA opponents in 1964-65. Scrappy Cats on "B" team rolled up 15-3 season record and 10-2 record in district for tie with Mt. Pleasant junior cagers for district crown. In non-conference play, Paris defeated Cooper and Commerce twice, and Mt. Vernon once. Their only pre-district loss was to Mt. Vernon. In 6AAA play, both losses were to co-champion Mt. Pleasant. All other teams in district were defeated twice by Wildcats' "B" team.

1963 TENNIS

Wildcat netters opened 1963 season in practice meets with Commerce, Hugo, and Sulphur Springs. Paris took second place honors in District 6AAA meet at E.T.S.C. Tommy Wells and John David Dunagan placed second in boys' doubles by beating Bonham and losing to Sulphur Springs. Girls' doubles, Sherry Kay Jones and Linda Deweese, placed second by defeating Greenville and losing to Sulphur Springs. Beth Bailey defeated Greenville and lost to Sulphur Springs for second place in girls' singles. As year-book went to press, 1964 racketeers were getting ready for final 6AAA tennis competition before moving to District 7AAAA.

1963 TRACK

PHS thinly-clads began in March preparing for 1963 track season. Coach Billy Reddell was handicapped with only five boys returning from 1962 season. Paris placed third in four-way match with Sulphur Springs, Mt. Pleasant, and Honey Grove on March 20, 1963.

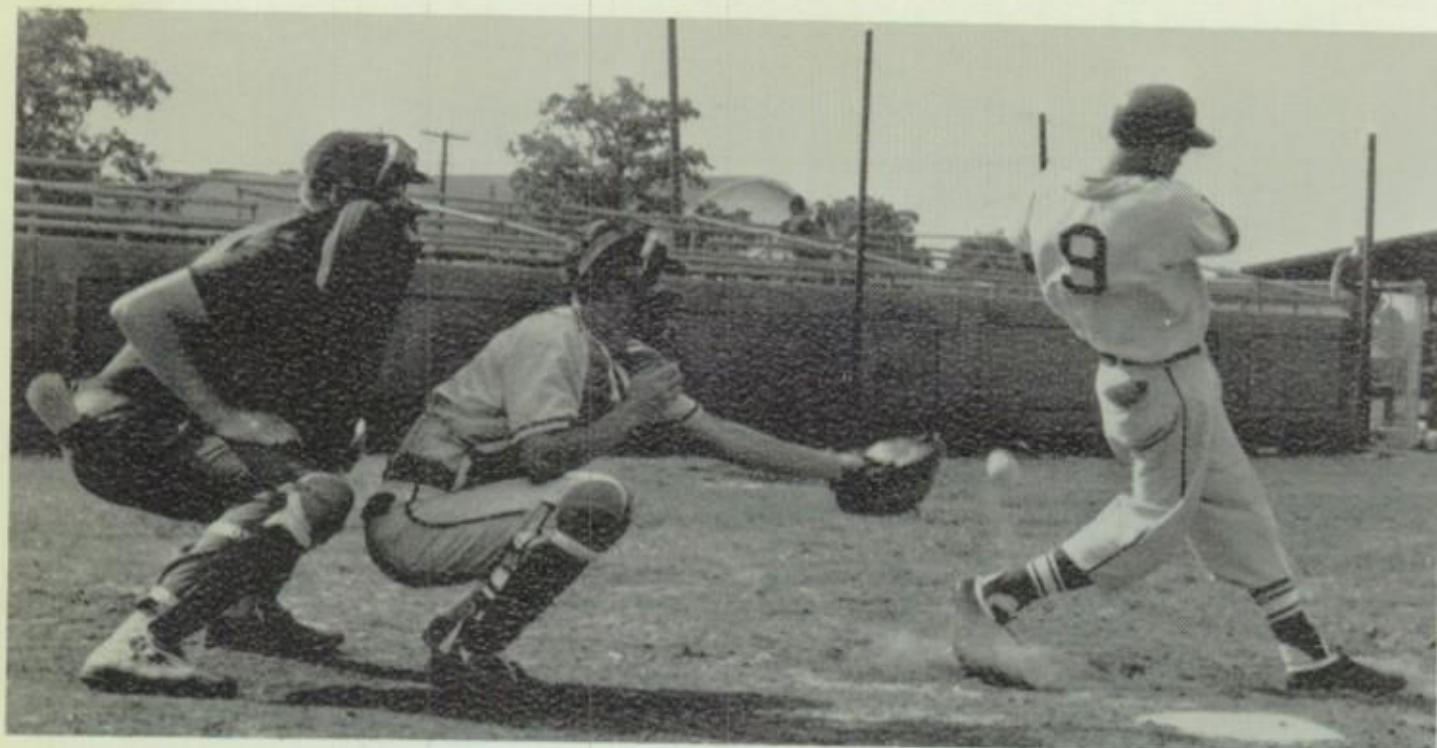

Saturday, April 7, 1963, proved disastrous for PHS cindermen as they placed last in 6AAA District Meet in Commerce, Texas. Paris won a fourth place in 440-yard relay run by Roger Gray, Ronnie Jones, Vaughn Roud, and David Kelso. Jimmy Mills placed fifth in high jump. Wildcats were hard pressed to obtain nine points in meet.

1963 GOLF

Golf team began 1963 season with loss to Sherman. Three days later Sherman ventured to Paris and beat Cats by four strokes. Paris then traveled to Greenville and beat Lions by large margin. In Paris, Cats again took honors from Greenville. PHS played five game series against Sulphur Springs with rival Wildcats winning 3 out of 5 matches.

Paris took second place in 6AAA District Tournament held in McKinney on April 8. Cats tallied 688 strokes, ten above first place Sulphur Springs. Walter Bassano, III, was low man for Paris with 160. Following him were Danny Harris, Jay Guest, and "Butch" Williams.

ACTION on field draws undivided attention of Wildcat bench. Wildcats ended season with 5-3 record.

“Sterling” victory over Sulphur Springs with Charles Sterling allowing one hit and striking out 15 in posting 9-0 win, began 1963 baseball season. Cats then lost to Mt. Pleasant 12-2.

Paris rebounded against Tigers a week later, defeating Mt. Pleasant 7-2 in season’s first 6AAA contest. Three days later, travel-weary Wildcats were brought down in defeat by 3-2 in Greenville. Minor defeat did not phase Wildcats, but made them determined to win as they plowed under McKinney by score of 5-0. Gainesville then dumped Paris 7-2. Cats won 6-0 over Bonham and 9-1 over Sulphur Springs for 5-3 record.

PORTRAITS . . .

Student Council did more in '64 through activities that tied the faculty closer to student body. Members consisted of presidents of organizations and homerooms. Officers were nominated and elected by student body at end of school year.

Projects consisted of taking bus to out-of-town athletic games, selling football ribbons, programs, and stickers to boost school spirit. Other activities included holding open house for Homecoming, handling prizes for Career Day posters and slogans. Carol Johnson took the prize for outstanding salesman in the annual mixed nut sale, a major money-making project of council.

During Tuesday noon meetings, members worked to do their share to serve PHS and surrounding community. Under guiding hand of Mr. Joel D. Casey, sponsor, and officers, forty-four members took part in all projects. Talent Night skit, "Dirty River," annual student council picnic, and Sadie Hawkins day and dance provided fun-filled entertainment. Members ordered pins and letter awards during year, and officers and sponsors journeyed to Texarkana for district meeting.

"GOT YA covered," shouts Sammy Rieger to Bill King and Johnny Parker in Talent Night skit "Dirty River."

Dedication

"I GET the message," smiles Bill King as he is swarmed by Polly Reid, Pam Nash, Sandra Goff, and Carol Johnson, who pin on ribbons being sold for games.

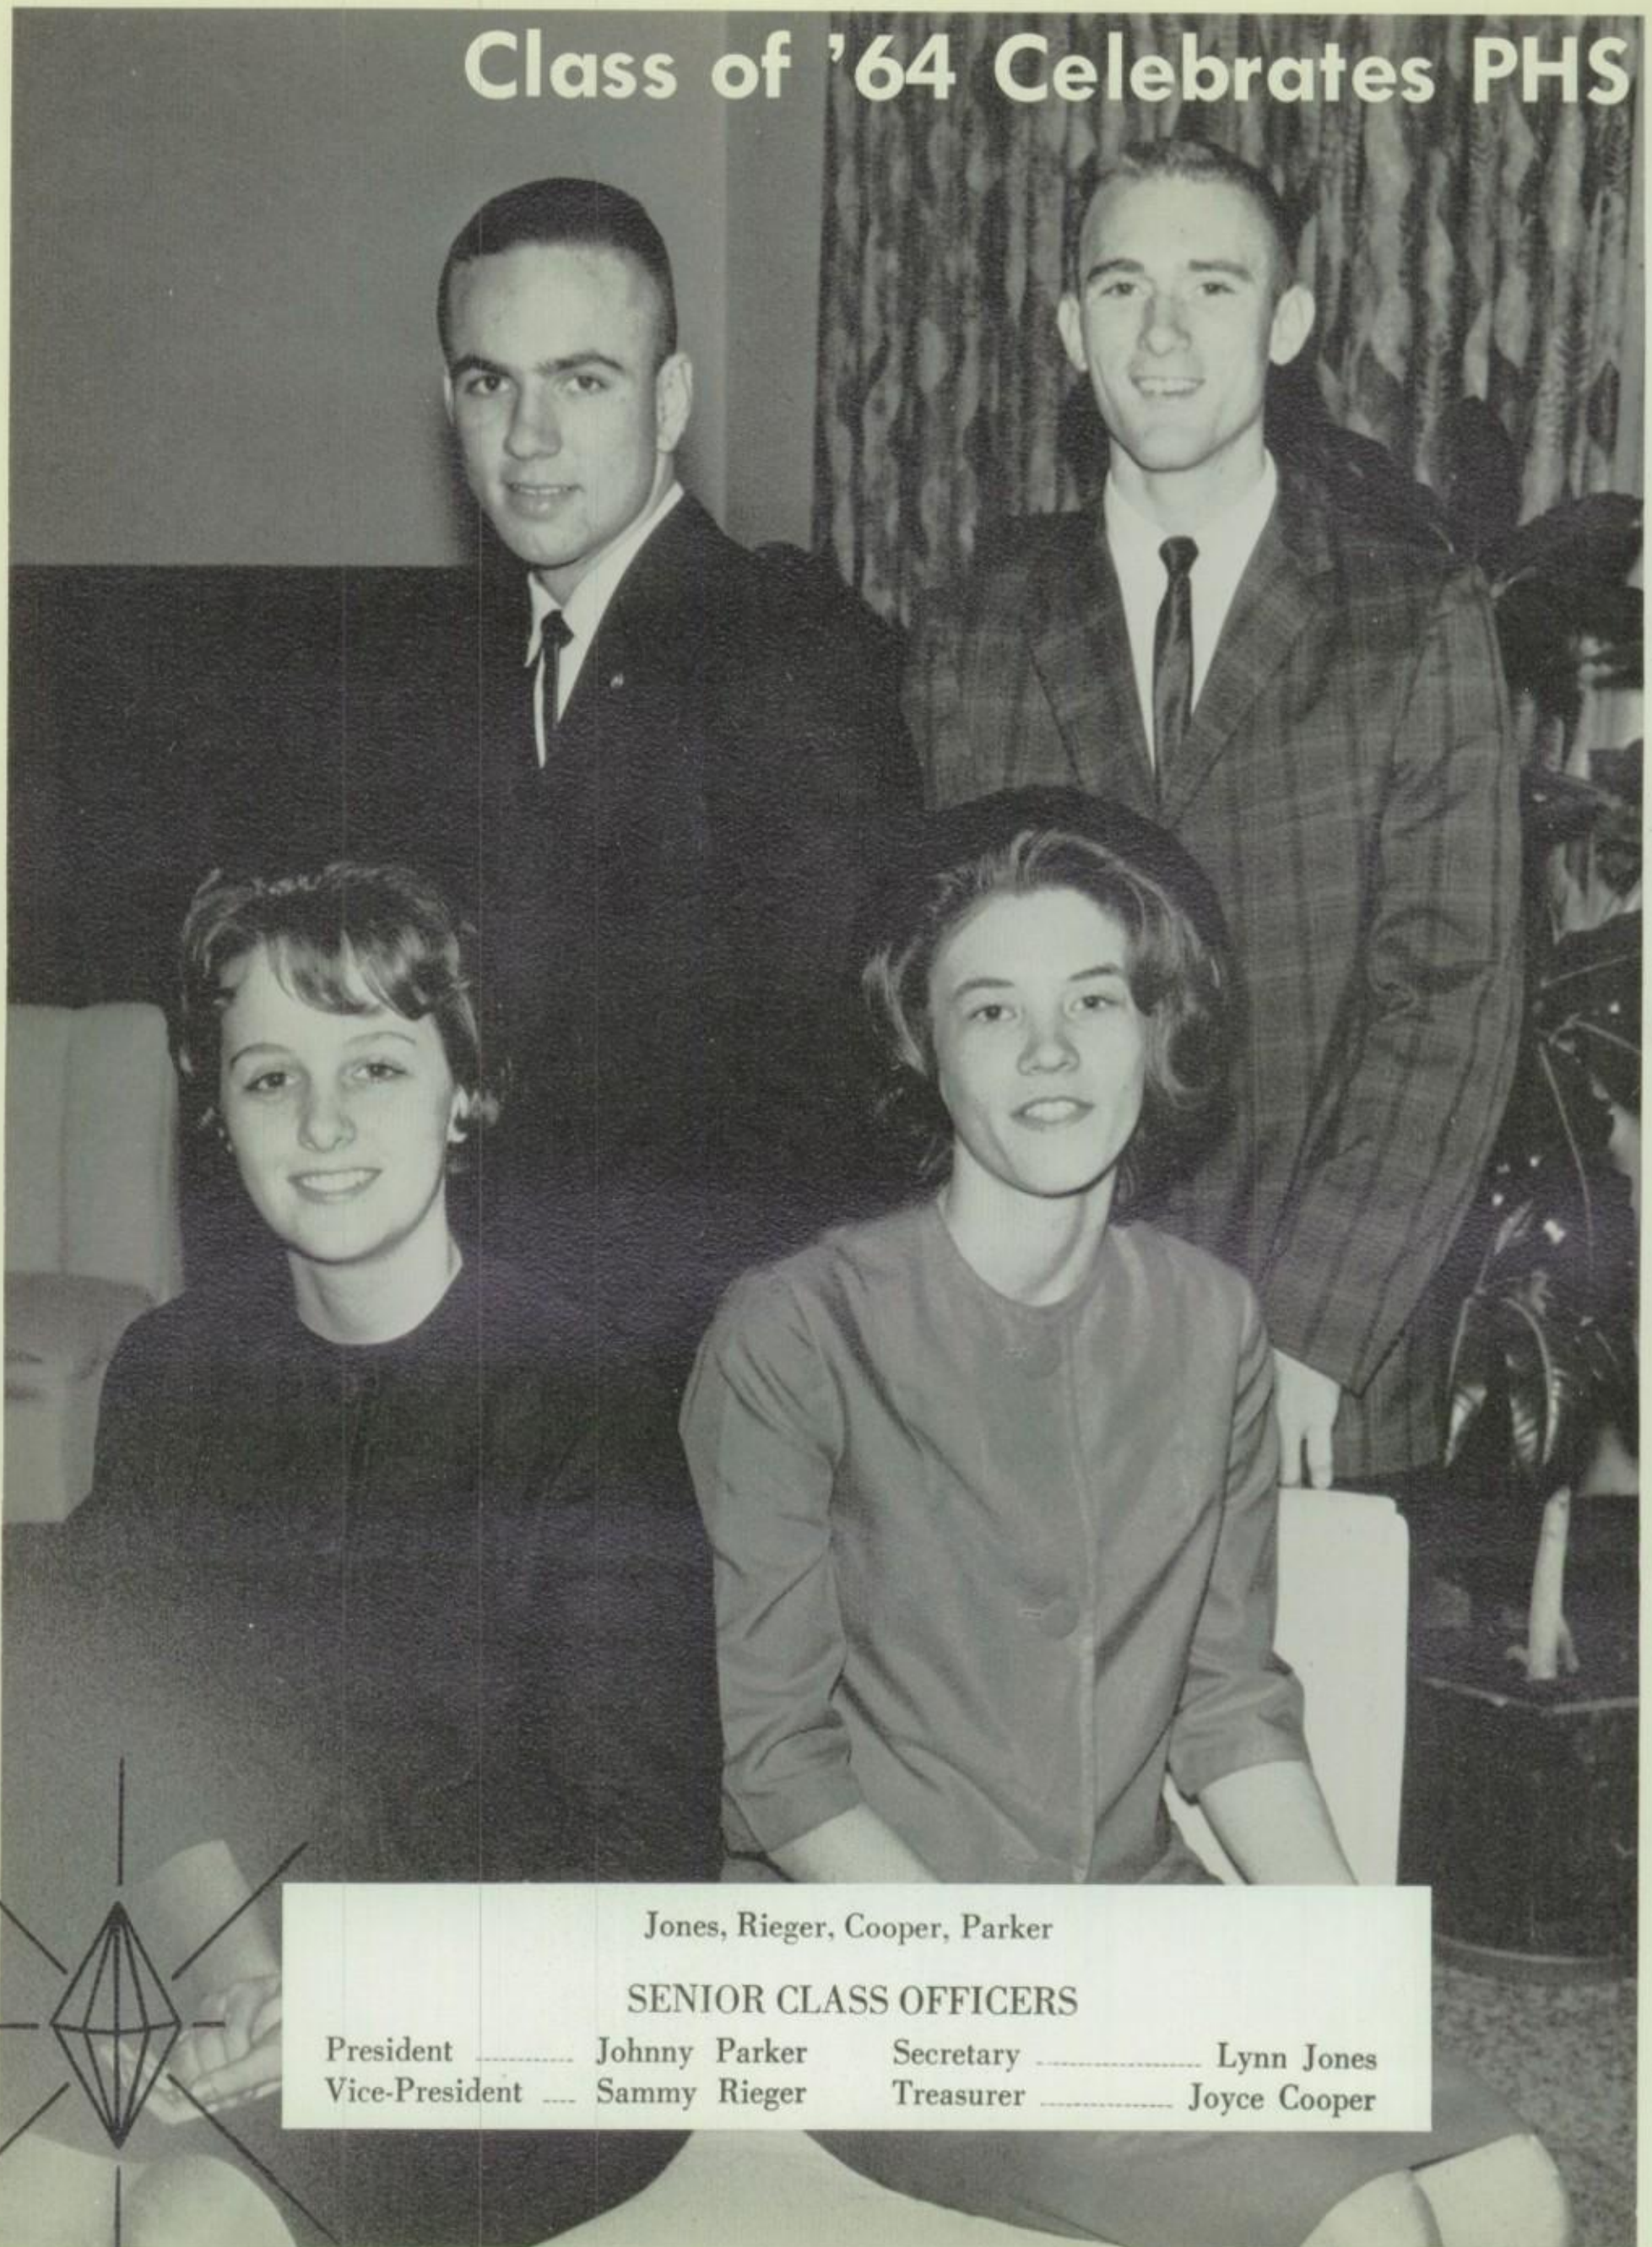

EXES ARE served cookies and punch at Homecoming open house sponsored by council.

Glittering diamond became symbolic of ascent of Paris High's 75th graduating class. And as the diamond was precious stone, many Seniors made their year of graduation a precious one.

As graduation neared, Class of '64 could look back on happy days as underclassmen. Nervous "Fish" of '61 gathered faith in themselves as they became acquainted with PHS. As Juniors, they boosted their nominees to status of Owl Sweethearts.

As Seniors, they stepped into limelight of leadership. Tradition decreed them duty of guiding Alma Mater in spirit, character, scholarship, and service. With vaulting loyalty to their class, Seniors gave their nominees Owl Sweetheart title for second consecutive year.

283 Juniors Become Upperclassmen

Juniors did more in '64 as they completed three-fourths of their high school journey. Uncertainty of past years was gone; confidence was guiding element for class of '65.

Capable sponsors and officers led 149 boys and 134 girls into area of new responsibility. Rummage sale and spaghetti supper were sponsored by energetic Juniors. Highlighting Junior activities was presentation of Talent Night. Eighteen organizations entered skits, resulting in hilarious evening of entertainment. Owl Sweethearts were revealed, and Most Typical Cowboys and Cowgirls were announced at intermissions.

As they moved into circle of upperclassmen, urge of participation rose within Juniors, who displayed enthusiasm in supporting school affairs. Initiations into organizations for upperclassmen also exemplified their activity. Entire year was lived in anxiety for 1964 Junior-Senior Prom, which was chief objective of the many projects.

At end of third year at PHS, Juniors looked behind, where lay many happy memories, and forward, toward days when, with class rings, they would be only one step from ultimate goal—graduation.

ICED DRINKS are purchased by Jimmy Davis as Louis Williams and David Hinds contribute their assistance at Junior class spaghetti supper.

President	_____	Larry Jones
Vice-President	_____	Frankie McDowell
Secretary	_____	Kay Szekely
Treasurer	_____	Billy Ayres

Sophomores did much more in '64 despite fact they remained underclassmen for second time. It was their turn to be "second-year" members of organizations and to initiate instead of being initiated. They proved outstanding in Owl Sweetheart and Talent Night competition. STS classes were hardly match for these industrious students who also exhibited fine ability on several national merit tests. As year progressed many worth-while class projects and participation in all-school activities added greater sense of responsibility and school spirit to each member. Election of class and homeroom officers illustrated Sophomores' skill in making wise choices for important positions. End-of-year highlight was selection of twenty-four Sophomore boys and girls as servers for Junior-Senior prom. All these things combined to bring to light potential of Class of '66. Year was rounded out with picnic where fun and food were enjoyed by those who eagerly anticipated beginning of second half of life at PHS—Upper-classmen!

SOPHOMORE Owl Sweetheart nominees Kay Szekely and Danny Ball are presented to student body in special "Hootenanny" assembly.

Teens of PHS were linked with community through yearbook advertising. Owl advertisers, numbering 339, sought this media to enhance student-businessman relationships. Parisians strived more in '64 to advise and direct youth of today in becoming leaders in world of tomorrow by showing interest and working hand-in-hand with them in such things as Career Day and Business Education Day.

The greater Paris area with its more than 21,000 inhabitants grew in 1964 as industries employed 2,327 workers. Over 5,803 families of Paris took an avid interest in the 900 plus students of Paris High School, and PHS graduates knew that they need look no further than growing Paris to find work, homes, and bright futures.

"CAMPBELL KIDS," with plant manager Mr. J. F. Rex, represent Campbell's in growing PHS.

OWL Advertisers Welcome Campbell

"QUALITY FIRST with tomatoes," thinks Dr. R. D. Peel as he makes check on soon-to-be Campbell Soup.

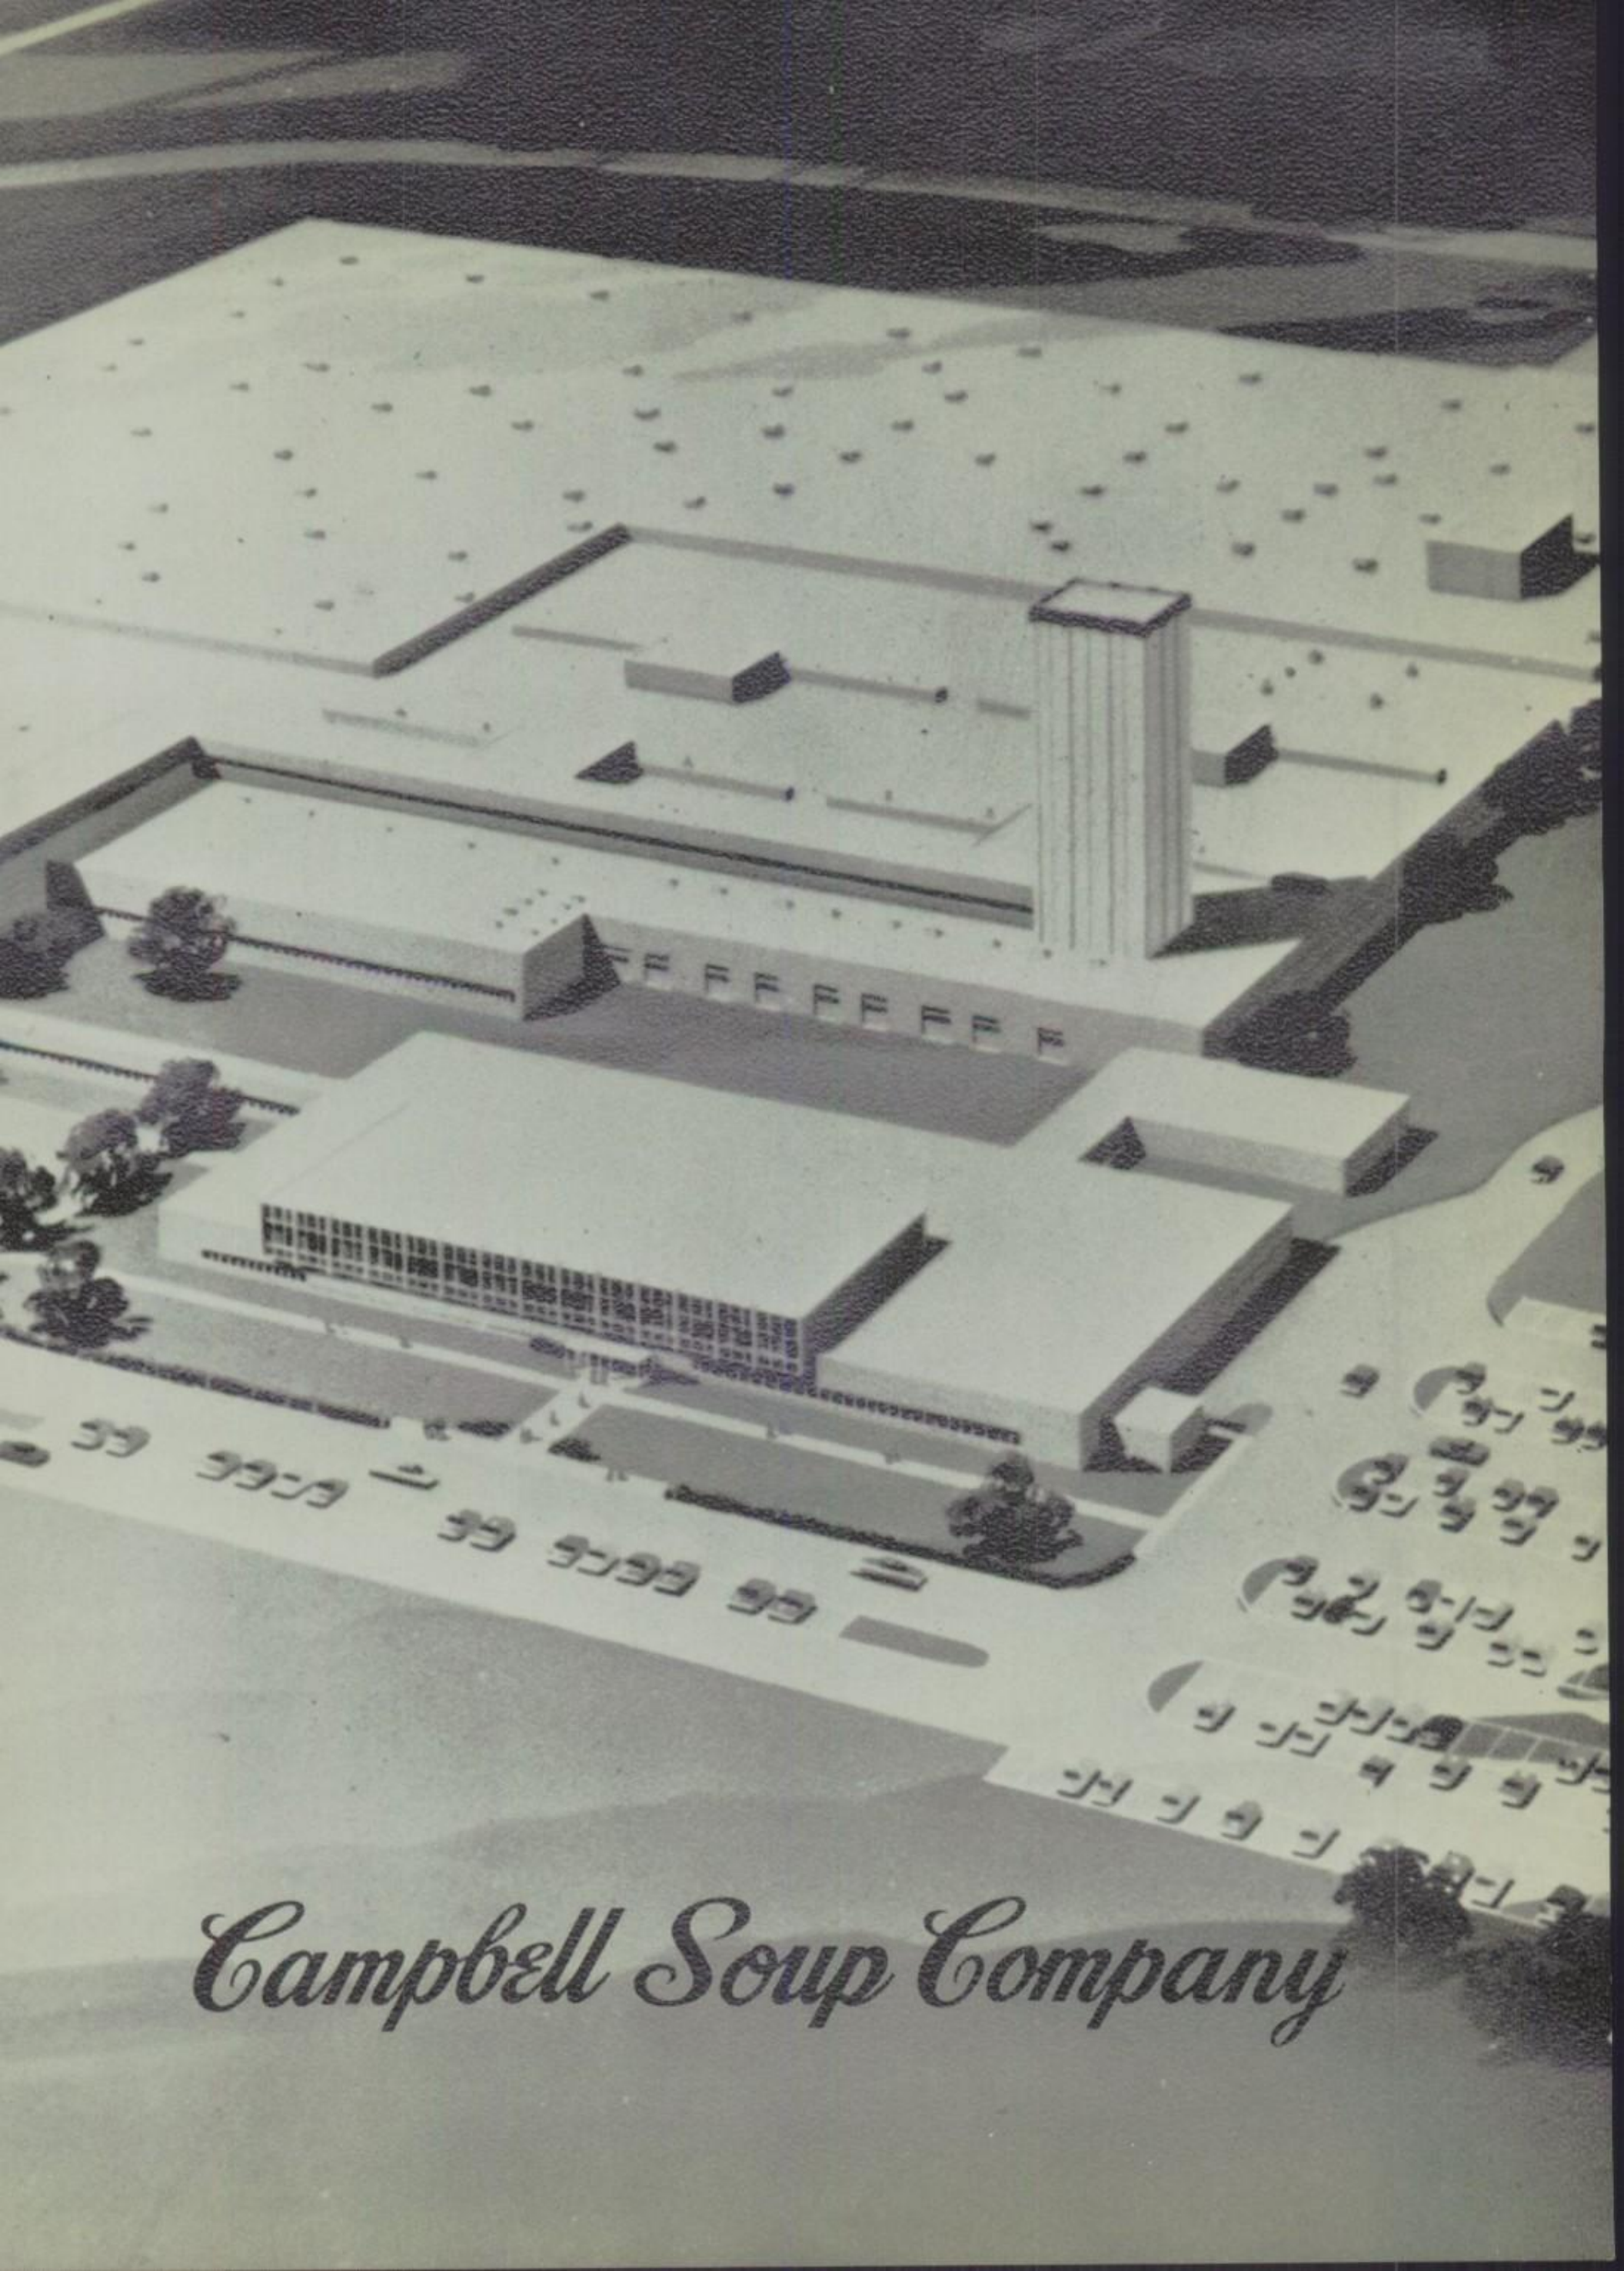

AGRICULTURISTS for Campbell Soup Company, Dr. C. G. Nichols and Miss Kaye Parker, examine cross-bred tomato plants.

CAMPBELL'S TOWER becomes Paris Landmark.

ARCHITECTS' DRAWING of Campbell Soup Company shows industry doing more in '64.

Education continues in industry with the experienced man passing on his knowledge to the newer employee. Here one man gets advice on erecting a new multi-story steam generator and another learns how it operates.

When should your education stop?

The better jobs go to the better educated today. The man or woman with little formal education usually has trouble getting a good job and is first to lose it when business slackens. Even the high school graduate will find many doors closed to him if he doesn't continue his education.

College graduates, on the other hand, usually can find almost unlimited career opportunities in companies like the Babcock & Wilcox Company. Engineers, scientists, accountants, personnel and marketing specialists, and sales engineers are among those who have found their greatest rewards and satisfaction in industry. Such well-trained men have made Babcock & Wilcox a major producer of capital goods, including steam generating equipment, nuclear systems and components, boiler cleaning systems, meters and controls, electronic equipment, steel tubular products and refractories.

But what of the man or woman who must go to work before completing his studies? Babcock & Wilcox helps its employees to continue their education. This is true whether the worker has a high school diploma or is a college graduate. There are two ways in which B&W does this. Throughout the Company's 24 plants and facilities, experienced personnel help new employees by on-the-job training as well as by lectures, meetings, and the like.

Equally as important, Babcock & Wilcox has a plan that refunds full tuition upon successful completion of approved educational courses which will benefit both the individual and the Company. This plan naturally helps employees do better work in their present positions and also aids them to earn promotions.

When should your education stop? Not until you have advanced as far as you can. The Babcock & Wilcox Company encourages you to complete a college education before you seek full-time employment. If college is out of the question for you now, continue your education after you go to work. It will always pay off for you in greater opportunities for more stimulating work and for a higher standard of living.

Launching of Summer Broke Ground for 51st Edition as Staff Prepared Details of '64 "Brainchild"

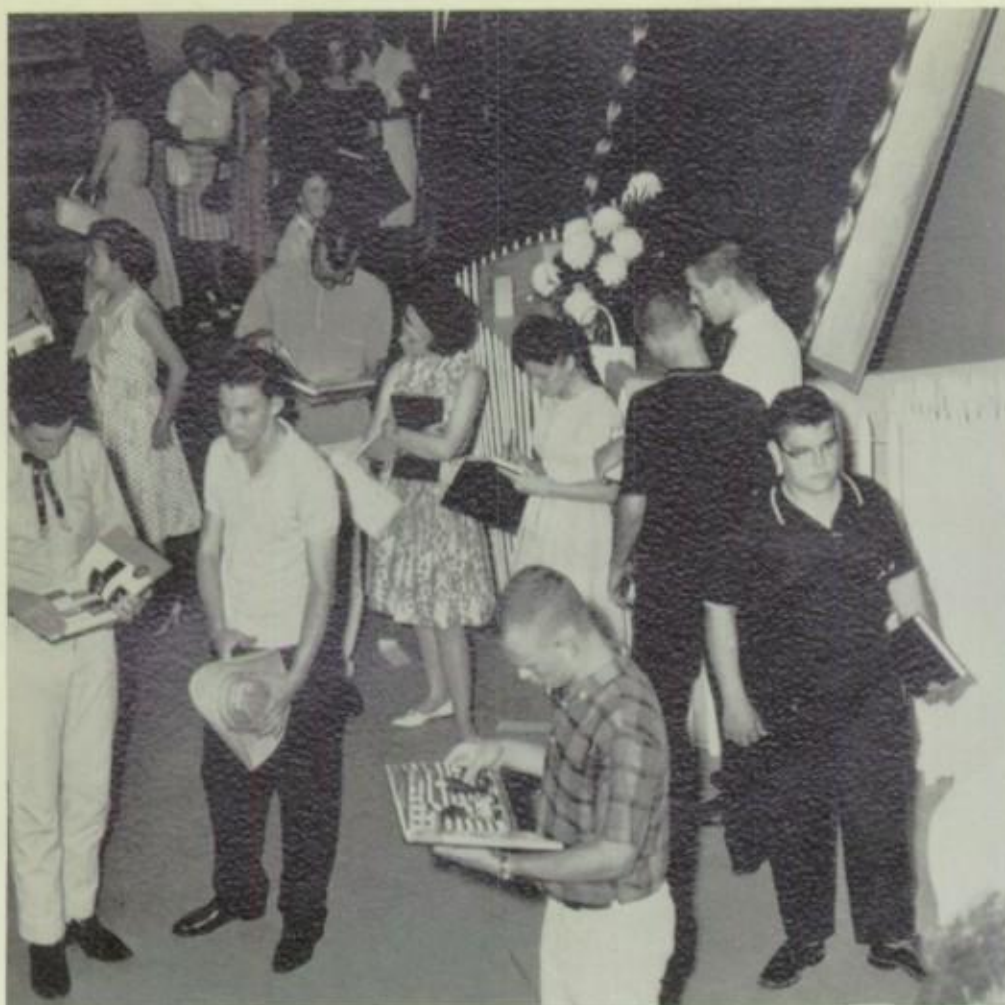

"LINGER NOT . . ." explains Martha Burch as Bob Barnes, Virginia Daniel, Severn Townsend, Elaine Seeliger, Jack Francis, and Linda McDaniel present meaning of 1964 Owl for orientation of new students.

JOE CLARK keeps eyes on sundae as staff eagerly awaits treat given by 1963 dedicatee, Miss Stella Mae Crain.

"HAVE YOU bought your Wildcat sticker?" asks Linda McDaniel of Gay Folmar and Susan Francis, as Owl staff hit student body with beginning-of-year sticker sale.

'63 Owl is admired by PHS students at "Coming-Out Party" in gym May 10, 1963.

PHILLIP WHITAKER, Elaine Seeliger, and Virginia Daniel distribute long-awaited pictures to Dickie Harrison and Peggy Foster.

STAFF POSITIONS are explained to members for '64 by Miss Martha Hankins at rained-out picnic in May.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS," rejoice Owl staffers as Martha Burch presents Sponsor Miss Martha Hankins with gift from staff at holiday party given by co-editors and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Francis.

Debut of '64 Owl

Work began on 1964 Owl in March, 1963, two months before debut of 1963 book when staff positions for '64 were made public. Selected Juniors and Sophomores did preparatory work for fifty-first edition last three months of '63 school year.

Summer was used for planning books and working out circulation plans. Writing letters, folding over fifteen hundred letters, addressing labels, and most dreaded task, licking stamps, kept staff in a whirl of work two weeks prior to beginning of school.

After campaign for circulation was well-planned and on its way, staff took time out for picnic and swimming party at Bonham State Park. First day of fall semester was O-Day, day when students could reserve a copy of '64 Owl at reduced price. Staff and helpers contacted entire student body in the 28-hour period.

Climaxes Staff Year

Toil and work mingled with informal parties, shared conversations, and coke breaks brought staff closer together as year came to a close and book was ready for distribution.

Wait! Stop! This book could not have been completed without technical advice of Taylor Publishing Company through its representative Mr. Jay Tom Holley. The careful printing and processing of our pictures and friendly help of Mr. Leslie Marshall and Mrs. Joe Denney were very necessary in production of our book. Mr. Bill Wheat deserved credit for his hard work with our mug shots. The "prompters in the wings" who gave us moral support were students, faculty, and advertisers. With twenty-six staff members and one sponsor dedicated to task of getting out this book, you have the completed story of '64 in your hands. Love it and cherish it!

"ONE MORE time," begins Bob Barnes as Virginia Daniel and Tommy Adams recheck O-Day payments.

"EVERYTHING comes to those who wait," became motto as delayed jackets arrive. Mr. Dee Cunningham aids Phyllis Swindle with hers.

More in '64 Paved Path to Future

CONTEST WINNERS for Career Day poster, register and program covers—Sandra Guthrie, Peggie Grant, and Larry Pulliam—compare ideas.

ANXIOUS SENIORS check bulletin board for cast of upcoming Senior Class Play, A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court.

OWL STAFFERS Linda McDaniel, Kay Hervey, David Fields, and Sponsor Miss Martha Hankins enjoy "whole-hearted" fun during Valentine fellowship.

ONE-ACT play cast, Danny Jones, Julia Asbill, Larry Green, Diane McGaughy, and Roger Gray, look forward to presentation of "Trifles" in McKinney on April 10.
